Benefits Of Agresearch 'Should Exceed Costs'

By VIRGIL FALLOON
Star Staff Writer

Three research experts said in a report Tuesday that Nebraska should reap benefits greater than the $1.7 million cost from its five-year-old Agresearch Program.

However, the report suggested the research program should be expanded to include state resources other than agricultural.

The three-month, independent study was made by Dr. Jesse Hobson, vice president of Southern Methodist University; Paul J. Lovewell of Stanford University and Dr. Norman Thornton, associate research director of United Fruit Co.

In releasing the report at a news conference, State Agriculture Director Pearl Finigan said, "I think it confirms that we have had significant results for the money spent and we are going in the right direction."

To Governor, Unicam

Finigan said the report would be given Gov. Frank Morrison and the Legislature.

Critics of the Agresearch Program created by the 1961 Legislature have charged it has been a waste of money and poorly administered.

LB807, which would place control of the program under a new "Nebraska Agricultural and Industrial Research Institute," awaits first-round debate on the Unicameral floor.

More than $1.5 million in state funds and $200,000 in federal funds have been put under the program in search of industrial uses for agricultural products.

The 17-page report stated: "The work has been good. By industrial standards, particularly for an entirely new research effort, the proportion of successful or promising programs and projects is high."

Combination

"Nebraska should recover more than its cost for research to date through a combination of increased use of agricultural products, new plant investment and employment in Nebraska, and income from the licensing of patents."

It also noted that while some research projects were reduced or stopped because of limited funds or changing needs, Nebraska "should benefit indirectly through continuation of some of the projects by industry, federal agencies or by other sponsors."

The report cautioned that the state cannot anticipate a major research breakthrough for utilization of the large grain crops produced with the possible exception of use of grain alcohol in engine fuel.

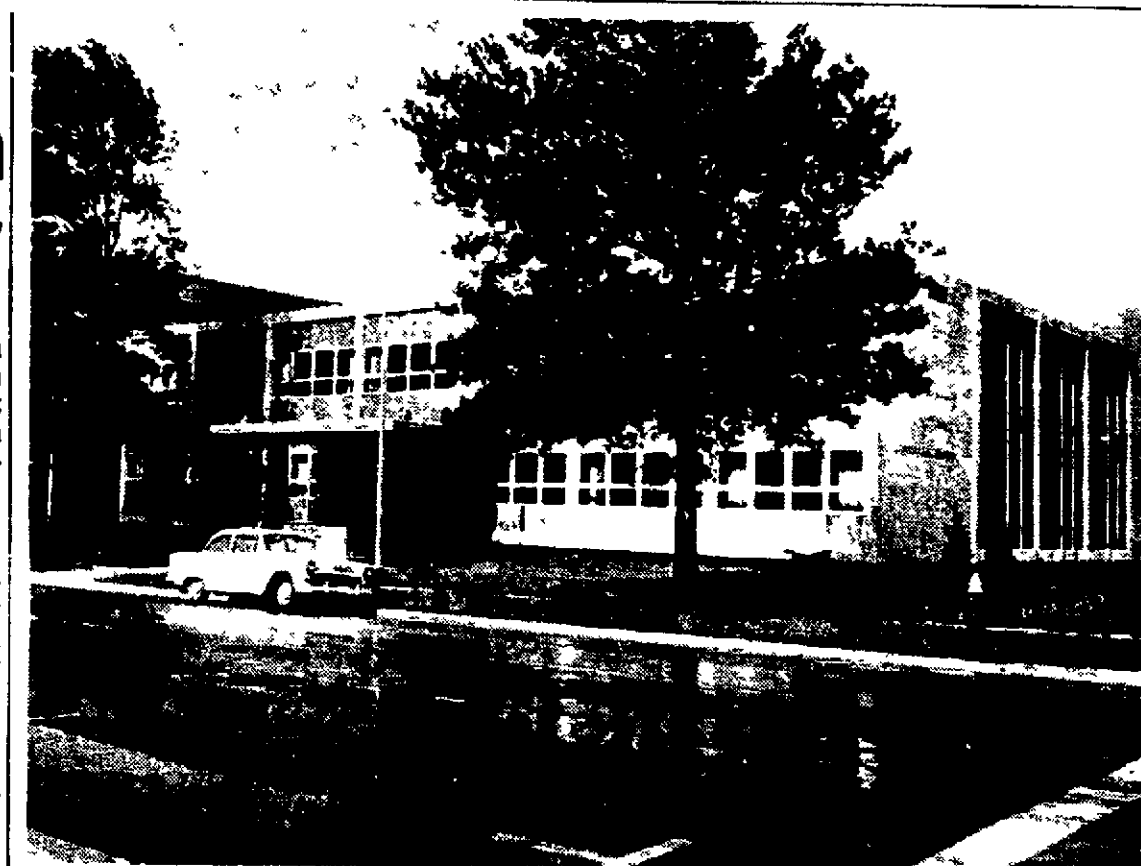

Noting that the regional approach to support research for agricultural projects is justified, the report notes that Nebraska's "pioneering effort" is "encouraging similar programs in other states and Nebraska, in turn, 'should be alert to benefit from the research done in other states.'"

It suggests "opportunities for joint research with other states (will develop) where possible results with benefit to Nebraska and where economies may be achieved by cost sharing."

Most Impressive

"Perhaps the most impressive feature of the Nebraska program is the business judgment, initiative and imagination shown," the report said. "The policy of contracting for research from the 'best available source' is sound and places the responsibility squarely on the program administrator and contractor."

"The concept of using a research program as an attraction to bring industry to Nebraska through free licensing of patents to plants locating in the state is unique," and "this idea may well prove to be of substantial importance to Nebraska's economic future."

Many Agencies' Staffs Grow--At No Added Cost

(EDITOR'S NOTE: This is the third of four articles on state employees.)

By VIRGIL FALLOON
Star Staff Writer

Many of Nebraska's state government departments outside the "big three" of education, institutions and highways have increased staff because of federally financed or fee-financed programs that do not take state tax money.

And two departments — including the major Agriculture Department — have actually cut employee levels below 1950.

The Department of Labor has increased its staff from 246 to 307 since 1950. Major increases came after 1955 with the expansion of the employment security law and other later programs.

"While new federal programs have increased workloads and necessitated the increased staff," a department spokesman notes, "salaries are fortunately 100% federally financed."

Staff Doubled

The Department of Banking has doubled its staff to 41—largely additional bank examiners. Operational costs are borne by the banking industry, except for the director and his secretary who are paid from tax funds.

The State Game Commission has a regular staff of 299, an increase of 125 since 1950. State and federal dollars are being spent to develop recreational areas in Nebraska. Agriculture has caused the increase.

Nebraska has its commissions and regulatory agencies, but most are self-supporting from the special fees or tax revenue they collect.

Among these are liquor control, racing, real estate, brand inspection and athletics.

Three new commissions have been added since 1950 not counting the short-term Centennial Commission for the state's 1967 observance.

These are the Power Review Board with three employees, Soil and Water Conservation Commission with 17, and Oil and Gas Conservation Commission with eight.

Few Make Cuts

While most departments have increased staffs to a greater or lesser degree since 1950, a few have actually made cuts.

The Department of Agriculture and Economic Development had a peak employment of 275 in 1960, but since has streamlined to a staff of 164. The 1950 level was 178.

Similarly, Veterans Affairs hit a peak of 24 in 1950, but has cut back to a dozen workers today.

Increased Workloads

Growth of governmental services and expanded state and federally financed programs have increased workloads. However, employee growth has not grown as much as state programs.

Data processing equipment and periodic streamlining of office procedures have generally checked staff increases that might otherwise have occurred.

Amendment Is OK'd By Senate

... WITH FIVE DISSENTING

Washington (AP) — The Senate approved and sent to the states for ratification Tuesday a proposed constitutional amendment spelling out procedure to deal with presidential incapacity and to keep the vice presidency filled.

The Senate completed congressional action by a 68-5 roll call vote — far over the two-thirds majority required. The House had accepted the compromise version by voice vote last Wednesday. President Johnson's signature is not required.

Senators who voted against it were Albert Gore, D-Tenn.; Frank J. Lausche, D-Ohio; Eugene McCarthy, D-Minn.; Walter F. Mondale, D-Minn.; and John G. Tower, R-Tex.

The legislatures act for the states on proposed amendments and it takes three-fourths of them, 38 states, to nail an addition into the Constitution.

Backers of the amendment hope for relatively speedy action. However, they do not expect ratification as the 25th Amendment before 1967.

Final Senate action was put over from last week to debate what critics called ambiguous language setting out who decides when a vice president could assume the presidential powers.

Gore wanted clarification of a provision that the president's capacity to carry out his duties could be challenged by the vice president with concurrence of either the cabinet or such other body as congress may provide for later by law.

Gore said it should be made clear that any body Congress would create would supersede the cabinet in setting any dispute. Otherwise, he said, there might arise a "potentially disastrous spectacle of competing claims to the power of the presidency" with the Supreme Court eventually having to make a ruling.

Sponsors of the proposed amendment expressed doubt that some of the possible contingencies Gore envisioned would ever arise.

Sen. Everett M. Dirksen, R-Ill., brushing aside the objections, said:

"I don't believe there is a brain that can fashion words that will meet every situation. I feel that we have words that will come about as close to it as it is possible to get."

Ghosts Raised

Dirksen said, "I doubt if we need to be afraid of the ghosts that have been raised" by the critics. To give such fears substance, he said, "you'd have to assume a vengeful vice presidency" in league with vengeful cabinet members seeking to wrest the presidency from its rightful holder.

Under the proposed amendment, if the vice presidency becomes vacant, the president shall nominate a successor who would take office after vote of both houses of Congress.

If president becomes incapacitated or otherwise unable to perform his responsibilities of office, the amendment deals with the delicate problems in the following fashion:

—If a president notifies congress of his disability, the vice president would take over as acting president. He would serve until the president proclaimed himself able to resume his powers.

Acting President

—If a president is unable or unwilling to declare his disability, the vice president would become acting president if he and a majority of the cabinet — or a majority of such other body as Congress might later provide — sent a declaration to congress that the president was unable to discharge his duties.

—A president could regain his powers by advising Congress that his inability no longer exists, unless this challenge within four days by the vice president and a majority of the cabinet — or such other body as Congress provides in the future.

—Any dispute over the ability of the president to regain his power would be settled by Congress — which would be required to assemble within 48 hours after such dispute arose, if not already in session.

—If within 21 days Congress determined by two-third majority votes in both House and Senate that the president was unable to discharge his duties, the vice president would continue as acting president. Otherwise the president would resume his powers and duties of office.

The Senate originally passed one version of the amendment 72 to 0 in February and the House voted 367 to 21 in favor of another version in April.

The House had set a 10-day limit for Congress to settle any dispute over the president resuming his powers. The Senate wanted no time limit. The deadlock was broken last month with the 21-day rule as a compromise.

The drive for the amendment began after President Dwight D. Eisenhower was disabled temporarily by a heart attack in 1955 and suffered other illnesses. The campaign picked up steam after the assassination of President John F. Kennedy in 1963.

Three Vote Defeats Stun British Labor

London (AP) — Britain's Labor government was staggered by three sudden voting defeats in the House of Commons early Wednesday.

The opposition Conservatives registered majorities of more than a dozen votes in the biggest parliamentary blow to Labor's prestige since it took office last October.

Jubilant Tories shouted "out" and "resign."

Government spokesmen immediately put out word that Prime Minister Harold Wilson would not quit office and call new elections, since Labor — and Liberal opposition in Commons — does not view the votes as a basic issue of confidence.

Most Important

Nevertheless, the defeats did come on a clause in the finance bill, always the most important piece of legislation in any parliamentary session.

For the party managers, the situation could truly be called a crisis. They failed to round up the necessary MPs to march into the voting lobby at the proper time.

The first Labor defeat Wednesday gave the Conservatives a majority of 14. The vote of 180-166 was Labor's first defeat on the finance bill.

The vote was on a Conservative motion designed to limit the effect of the government's new capital gains tax on investment trust, a popular method of investment for small savers.

Wild Drive On Highway Ends In Death

Perth, Australia (AP) — An Australian sped down the wrong side of a Perth highway Monday in a wild drive that ended in a bizarre drowning in the Swan River.

At speeds up to 50 miles an hour against the traffic stream he covered six miles of the main Perth highway scattering oncoming vehicles in his path.

Finally, the car sideswiped another, collided with a taxi, shot across some reclaimed land and dived into the river where it floated for a while.

And behind the wheel sat the man, calmly smoking. Passersby dived into the river in a rescue attempt. The man offered them cigarettes, but refused to get out to the car and finally turned up his window.

He was still sitting behind the wheel when the car finally sank in 12 feet of water 10 yards from shore. His body was later recovered.

Crofton Getting Big Boost From Revitalized Woman's Club

By JOHN LEE

Crofton—Just over a year ago the Woman's Club didn't exist here.

Now it does, and everybody knows it.

"We organized a year ago," explained Mrs. Dee Carlson. "The old club fell apart and disbanded a few years ago. We've started a new one for the betterment of the community."

They've taken off like a ball of fire to spruce up the town and especially to make it attractive to tourists.

Lots of Them

"A lot of them come through here—more than people realize," said Mrs. Carlson.

Crofton is uniquely situated right smack on the way and a few miles from Gavins Point Dam and Lewis and Clark Lake, just in early stages of development and becoming more popular with travelers every season.

campers to stay," explained Mrs. Carlson.

With that in mind, the club got the park bug by talking over the possibilities for a full-scale complex to augment the present mid-town picnic area.

The planning commission has taken it over and applied for state and federal assistance in making it possible. A proposed site in the gentle hills at the north end of town is envisioned as a future camping and picnic area around a small lake.

Big Plans

Quiet drives, parking, a shelter house, a tennis court to double as an ice skating rink, a swimming pool and playground equipment would make it a first-class wayside stop.

Not waiting for that eventually, though, the 25 members of the revitalized Woman's Club went ahead last year to make the present park more attractive.

"We had half the trees taken out, put in new fireplaces, added tables and painted the old ones, built a baseball backstop and closed the area to traffic," Mrs. Carlson said, pointing out the improvement.

sorship of a Girls Stater, along with the Fall Festival parade, Halloween carnival for the young set and a Christmas bazaar.

Current activity for the ladies is the redecoration of the city auditorium where they soon plan to start holding dances.

The do-it-now action of the club, Mrs. Carlson noted with pride, has boosted the spirit of the whole community.

"Everybody has a better attitude now," she said. "They see that there's more to offer in this area than they'd stopped to realize."

Rocket Launchers Used By Kurdish Against Iraqi

Beirut, Lebanon (AP) — Mountain artillery and rocket launchers are being used by the Kurdish guerrillas for the first time in their four-year war against the Iraqi army in Northern Iraq, informed Kurdish sources said Monday.

The weapons were used "with great success" to shell an Iraqi army camp and an airfield last month, the sources said.

The weapons were bought in Western Europe, the sources added.

Kurdish tribesmen, who have been fighting the Iraqi army since 1961, are demanding self-rule in the area they inhabit and a larger share of the country's oil revenues.

The first Labor defeat Wednesday gave the Conservatives a majority of 14. The vote of 180-166 was Labor's first defeat on the finance bill.

The vote was on a Conservative motion designed to limit the effect of the government's new capital gains tax on investment trust, a popular method of investment for small savers.

Immediately afterward the government suffered a second defeat, this time by 13 votes on a technical motion concerning the same clause.

Edward Heath, chief Conservative spokesman on finance, then moved that the house should adjourn further discussions of the finance bill. This was a device to force a third vote, and still further embarrass the government.

Labor Party whips (floor managers) frantically toured house corridors looking for their missing majority.

Wilson said that he would not regard an "accidental" defeat in the house as an inevitable cause for resignation and new elections.

The third vote produced another 13-vote majority for the opposition.

Approving Roars

To roars of approval from Conservative supporters, Heath told the house, "The lesson for the government is plain — it should resign and resign quickly."

Little more than half the house took part in the voting. The highest turnout was 346 votes, compared to a total membership of 629 since one seat is vacant.

Many members had paired — made private agreements to leave with opponents so their votes would cancel each other out. It appeared that at least a dozen Labor members had gone home without pairing, wrongly believing that voting was finished for the night.

Smith Supports GOP Rights Bill

... 'LACKS DRIPPING VENOM'

Washington (AP) — A Southern Democratic leader urged support Tuesday for an alternative voting rights bill sponsored by the House Republican leadership.

Rep. Howard W. Smith, D-Va., speaking to his Southern colleagues as debate opened in the House, said the GOP-backed measure "lacks the dripping venom that pours from every sentence" of the Johnson administration's bill.

General debate is expected to last two days, with another two days of voting on amendments before the bill comes up for final action.

Partisan Split

The deep partisan split in the House over a voting bill is a major weakness in the administration's position and Smith probed it quickly.

He said the administration bill is in direct, flagrant violation of the Constitution, while the GOP bill "would do the things that legitimately need to be done" to assure everyone the right to vote.

The chief difference between the two bills is in the way they would become operative. The administration bill would take effect immediately and automatically in seven Southern states requiring literacy tests, where less than 50% of the adult population was registered or voted last November.

25 Complain

The GOP bill, co-sponsored by minority leader Gerald Ford of Michigan and Rep. William M. McCulloch of Ohio, senior Republican on the Judiciary Committee, would apply in any locality where 25 or more residents complained they were denied the right to vote because of their race.

Under both bills federal examiners would be sent in to check qualifications and register Negroes they hold to be qualified.

McCulloch joined Rep. Emanuel Celler, D-N.Y., chairman of the Judiciary Committee and floor manager of the bill, in proclaiming a need for legislation to assure Negroes the right to vote.

One Southern Democrat, Rep. Charles E. Bennett of Florida, spoke up for the administration bill. He told the House he has always opposed civil rights bills aimed at what he termed compulsory intermingling and association.

RAF Plane Crashes; 41 Killed

London (AP) — A Royal Air Force transport plane on a training mission blew up in the air and crashed in a field Tuesday, killing 41 British servicemen.

Firemen and the RAF reported no survivors aboard the plane, which came down in a ball of fire in an Oxfordshire farmer's field. It was the worst air crash in Britain in eight years, and the third worst on record here.

Most of those on board were RAF airmen in training, a defense ministry spokesman said, but there were also a few paratroopers.

"The plane disintegrated," said a spokesman for the Oxfordshire fire brigade. The four-engine plane of the RAF transport command came down near Dorchester, about 40 miles west of London.

The RAF said it had no indication of what might have caused the crash. Some spectators raised the possibility of a collision. They reported planes had been crisscrossing the area all day — the RAF has a parachute jump area nearby. One woman said she had seen two planes in the air at the time of the crash, and one went down.

PRESIDENT'S DAUGHTER ASKED TO BE REBAPTIZED

Washington (AP) — Eighteen-year-old Luci Johnson requested rebaptism when she converted to the Roman Catholic Church, it was disclosed Tuesday.

The officiating priest, the Rev. James Montgomery, said the President's daughter asked to be baptized because she wished in conscience to be sure she was meeting the requirements of the church.

"I did what she requested and fulfilled the laws of the church," Father Montgomery said of the rebaptism, which has become the target of criticism from theologians.

And the White House confirmed Luci's personal request that she be rebaptized, although she already had been baptized in the Episcopal Church as an infant.

"Luci felt it was a personal matter, joining the church, and she went about it in a personal way," Mrs. Elizabeth Carpenter, press secretary to Mrs. Lyndon B. Johnson, explained Tuesday.

It was learned that Luci felt she wanted to start at the beginning in her new religion and that this was the way to do it.

Love-Crazed Gunman Slays One During Pittsburgh Reign Of Terror

Pittsburgh (UPI) — Police Tuesday shot down a love-crazed gunman who killed a police lieutenant in a pre-dawn reign of terror.

Leroy Scott, 25, also wounded two other officers and held a 200-man posse at bay for five hours before police stormed his woodland refuge and shot him out of a tree.

"He was dead before he hit the ground," a police spokesman said.

Earlier Tuesday, it was thought Scott had gunned down Aaron Godfrey, 59, his girlfriend's father but a spokesman at the Allegheny County morgue said Tuesday night an autopsy revealed Godfrey died from a police bullet.

Not Confirmed

Homicide detectives said the report has not been confirmed.

The shooting rampage began shortly after midnight when Scott armed with a semi-automatic .22 caliber rifle forced his way into the home of his girlfriend, 16-year-old Ruth Godfrey.

Shots rang out and there was a call for help.

When police arrived they found the girl's father sprawled dead in the doorway of the home.

The siege turned Pittsburgh's Hazelwood district into an armed camp with hundreds of city, county and auxiliary police ringing the area.

Acting Lt. Coleman McDonough, 52, and patrolman Leo Mincin, 36, were the first to enter. McDonough, who had played pro football for the old Chicago Cardinals and Pittsburgh Steelers, caught five bullets in the upper body. He died instantly.

Mincin was wounded in the right knee and was hospitalized in good condition.

Patrolman Joseph Laffey, 32, was shot in the chest and upper left arm when he went to the aid of McDonough and Mincin. He was in critical condition.

After the first exchange, police reinforcements poured in, including the finest sharpshooters on the force. Under cover of darkness, however, Scott managed to make his way into the back yard, where he was spotted by patrolman William Kenner, 38.

"I shot three times, but he didn't go down," Kenner said. One of the bullets hit Scott in the arm.

Last Stand

Pools of blood led police to the wooded area where Scott decided to make his last stand.

Because of dense brush and Scott's accuracy with the rifle, police decided to wait for dawn before assaulting his refuge. Street lights were turned off and police rejected an offer by officials at the nearby Jones & Laughlin Steel Corp. plant to light up an open hearth furnace to illuminate the hills.

B52s Blast Viet Cong Again; D Zone Raided; Convoy Hit

Saigon, Viet Nam (AP) — U.S. Air Force B52 bombers Wednesday again blasted the dense, Communist-infiltrated jungle northeast of Saigon with heavy explosives.

It was the third such strike by the big Strategic Air Command (SAC) bombers, which are based at Guam, 2,200 miles away. The B52s pounded the so-called "D Zone," 35 miles northeast of Saigon, on June 18 and again on Monday.

A 2,500-man allied task force plodded through one section of the almost impenetrable Viet Cong lair Tuesday, blowing up tunnels and the abandoned huts of guerrillas in one section of the D Zone. The soldiers were virtually unopposed, except for some hostile dogs. They shot every dog that barked.

A U.S. spokesman described the air attack as another "spoiling mission" designed to harass the reds by hitting hard at their encampments and communications and destroying their morale.

There was no immediate disclosure on the number of planes in the raid or any assessment of damage.

In another action 20 miles north-northwest of Saigon Tuesday night, the Viet Cong ambushed a 28-boat government river convoy, sending one large landing craft to the bottom of the Saigon River, U.S. spokesmen reported.

Soviet Surface-To-Air Missiles Are Near Ready At North Viet Nam Sites

Washington (AP) — The State Department reported Tuesday two missile sites in North Viet Nam are now ready to take Soviet surface-to-air missiles and two other sites are rapidly nearing that state of readiness.

Heretofore the State Department had confirmed that one missile site had been observed in the Hanoi area and said there might be a second site in the same vicinity.

At the same time, neither State nor Defense Department authorities would completely rule out the possibility that Soviet surface-to-surface medium-range missiles are in North Viet Nam. In response to news reports to this effect the Defense Department has said only, "We have no evidence of any surface-to-surface sites in North Viet Nam."

Although reconnaissance planes and drones have kept close tabs on the progress of the surface-to-air missile site work no effort has been made to knock out the installations.

Contingency plans have been made to deal with this threat. The method to be used would depend on the stage of development of the sites at the time of any U.S. attack.

If the sites were to be hit before the missiles were operational, it might be done by conventional bombing. However, if the U.S. attack were launched after the anti-aircraft missiles were in firing position, the U.S. planes probably would try to come in at low level and fast to avoid being knocked down themselves. In that case, they might use such weapons as the Bullpup missile which has warheads ranging up to 1,000 pounds.

The surface-to-air missiles involved in the Hanoi-Haiphong installations have a slant range of about 35 miles and can reach altitudes of 80,000 feet.

Normally they are arrayed in groups of six missiles set around a central radar guidance position.

There locations usually are established to provide interlocking fan-like areas of coverage to guard a given region. The missiles are two-stage rockets measuring more than 73 feet in length.

They are defensive missiles, but the medium-range ballistic missile is considered to be an offensive weapon with a range of up to 1,500 miles. Such large missiles are difficult to transport without detection.

At a news briefing State Department Press Officer Robert McCloskey said that work on two of the Communist missile sites near Hanoi is essentially completed and "work may be in an advanced state of readiness at two other sites."

Smith Supports GOP Rights Bill

... 'LACKS DRIPPING VENOM'

Washington (AP) — A Southern Democratic leader urged support Tuesday for an alternative voting rights bill sponsored by the House Republican leadership.

Rep. Howard W. Smith, D-Va., speaking to his Southern colleagues as debate opened in the House, said the GOP-backed measure "lacks the dripping venom that pours from every sentence" of the Johnson administration's bill.

General debate is expected to last two days, with another two days of voting on amendments before the bill comes up for final action.

Partisan Split

The deep partisan split in the House over a voting bill is a major weakness in the administration's position and Smith probed it quickly.

He said the administration bill is in direct, flagrant violation of the Constitution, while the GOP bill "would do the things that legitimately need to be done" to assure everyone the right to vote.

A neighbor said Scott and his girl friend had been having trouble for a long time and that matters finally came to a head Tuesday when Godfrey ordered Scott from the home. Scott left but returned a short time later with the rifle.

Mariner 4 Eight Days From Mars

Pasadena, Calif. (AP) — The U.S. spacecraft Mariner 4, only eight days away from its historic photographic rendezvous with Mars, is expected to begin feeling the mysterious planet's gravitational pull for the first time Wednesday.

Jet Propulsion Laboratory, which built and is tracking the 775-pound vehicle on its 228-day voyage, said radioed data indicated its instruments were working well.

At noon Mariner 4 was 127 million straight line miles from Earth, two million straight line miles from Mars, and has traveled 315 million miles along its curving, 325-million-mile flight path.

Mars and Mariner 4 are racing side by side in orbits around the Sun, with the spacecraft slightly in the lead. The orbits will intersect July 14 and Mariner 4 will streak behind Mars, missing the planet by less than 6,000 miles.

As it flies past, Mariner 4 is expected to take the first close-ups, showing details as small as 1 1/2 miles in length or diameter, of the planet believed most likely to harbor extraterrestrial life.

Mariner 4's speed — now 9,884 m.p.h. relative to Mars — has been gradually slowing down but the rate of decrease will fall off as it comes under Mars' influence Wednesday and by Saturday the speed will begin to increase, a laboratory spokesman said.

Senate Okays Warnings On Cigarettes

Washington (UPI) — The Senate by voice vote gave its final approval Tuesday to a bill requiring a health warning on all cigarette packages.

This sent the measure to the House for a vote there which would complete congressional action.

The compromise legislation, worked out by the House-Senate conferees last week, would bar any similar warning requirement in cigarette advertising for four years.

"May Be Hazardous" The warning on the packages would say: "Caution: cigarette smoking may be hazardous to your health."

The legislation gives manufacturers discretion on the exact location of the warning but says it must be in a conspicuous place. It also requires that the warning must appear in conspicuous and legible type in contrast by typography, layout or color with other printed matter on the package.

The prohibition against any action by any government agency in regard to cigarette advertising applies directly to the Federal Trade Commission (FTC).

Similar To Legislation

The FTC had announced plans to require cigarette advertising to be accompanied by a health warning similar to that which the legislation requires on the package.

If no further legislation is passed by Congress by July 1, 1966, the FTC will be free to go ahead with its advertising proposal.

During the next four years, the FTC and the Department of Health, Education and Welfare will submit periodic reports to Congress on whether the package label has any effect on cigarette consumption.

Above-Average Oats Yields Said Likely As Crop Ripens

Wheat is ripe and ready for harvest in virtually all of the southern half of Nebraska, but wet fields have delayed combine operations, government crop observers reported Tuesday.

Only a few fields had been harvested by the end of last week but cutting will get under way as soon as fields become dry enough, according to the weekly crop report of the State-Federal Division of Agricultural Statistics.

On the corn and grain sorghum front, plants are developing unevenly, the report said. Some fields have just been planted while others are nearing the tasseling or heading stage.

Fire Damages House; Arson Is Suspected

A fire which firemen said apparently was set intentionally caused considerable damage to a house at 1715 So. 50th Tuesday.

DeWayne McIntyre, chief fire inspector, said he noticed an odor of some type of volatile liquid in some parts of the house.

The owners, Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Dunovan, were said by neighbors to be visiting relatives in Anaheim, Calif.

The firemen upon entering the house said they found fire in the living room, a hall and two bedrooms. Smoke from a sofa, mattresses and a carpet was said to have caused thousands of dollars damage.

The fire was discovered by trash collectors Gerald Weiler and Dwayne Sovereign who saw smoke pouring from a window.

GOP Endorses Martin's Plan For Students' Parents

By the Associated Press

Rep. Dave Martin, R-Neb., said Tuesday the Republican Party has now officially endorsed his proposal to allow an income tax deduction for parents whose children are in college, and who contribute a major portion of their support.

"This type of legislation would not set up any federal bureau to redistribute the taxpayers' dollars to our young people attending college. It would be a much simpler approach and would be taken care of through a person's income tax return.

Martin said that after considerable reseat of costs of both tax-supported and private colleges, he arrived at a figure of $1,000 per year to be used as a fair average of cost. He introduced such a bill four years ago and has now reintroduced it in the 88th Congress.

Wet Fields Delay State's Wheat Harvest

Above-Average Oats Yields Said Likely As Crop Ripens

Wheat is ripe and ready for harvest in virtually all of the southern half of Nebraska, but wet fields have delayed combine operations, government crop observers reported Tuesday.

Only a few fields had been harvested by the end of last week but cutting will get under way as soon as fields become dry enough, according to the weekly crop report of the State-Federal Division of Agricultural Statistics.

On the corn and grain sorghum front, plants are developing unevenly, the report said. Some fields have just been planted while others are nearing the tasseling or heading stage.

Fire Damages House; Arson Is Suspected

A fire which firemen said apparently was set intentionally caused considerable damage to a house at 1715 So. 50th Tuesday.

DeWayne McIntyre, chief fire inspector, said he noticed an odor of some type of volatile liquid in some parts of the house.

The owners, Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Dunovan, were said by neighbors to be visiting relatives in Anaheim, Calif.

The firemen upon entering the house said they found fire in the living room, a hall and two bedrooms. Smoke from a sofa, mattresses and a carpet was said to have caused thousands of dollars damage.

The fire was discovered by trash collectors Gerald Weiler and Dwayne Sovereign who saw smoke pouring from a window.

GOP Endorses Martin's Plan For Students' Parents

By The Associated Press Rep. Dave Martin, R-Neb., said Tuesday the Republican Party has now officially endorsed his proposal to allow an income tax deduction for parents whose children are in college, and who contribute a major portion of their support.

"This type of legislation would not set up any federal bureau to redistribute the taxpayers' dollars to our young people attending college. It would be a much simpler approach and would be taken care of through a person's income tax return.

Martin said that after considerable research of costs of both tax-supported and private colleges, he arrived at a figure of $1,000 per year to be used as a fair average of cost. He introduced such a bill four years ago and has now reintroduced it in the 88th Congress.

Roger Darnell, 26, Council Bluffs, averts his face as he leaves Municipal Court Tuesday after being arraigned for first degree murder for the death of Kathleen Rose Hastert, 16, Council Bluffs. Darnell is flanked by two policemen, Carl Brandenburg, left, and Sgt. C. E. (Pat) Moore.

Darnell Enters Innocent Plea To Slaying Council Bluffs Girl

Council Bluffs, Iowa (UPI)—A quiet-looking father of two entered a plea of innocent to a first degree murder charge Tuesday in connection with the savage bludgeoning of a pretty Council Bluffs teenager.

Rodger Oliver Darnell, 25, was accused in the slaying of Kathleen Rose Hastert, 17, whose half-nude body was found in a clump of underbrush in the bluffs Monday morning. She had been missing since the previous night, when Darnell had given her a ride home.

Darnell stood mute in Municipal Court Tuesday except to answer when asked his age and place of employment. Bond was continued at $50,000 and a preliminary hearing was scheduled for Friday afternoon by municipal Judge Allan Ardell.

Darnell was picked up early Monday a short time before the body was found. Authorities said he has not admitted anything.

Pottawattamie County Attorney Frederick J. Kraschel said a bloody jack was found in the trunk of Darnell's car, and wounds inflicted on the girl were consistent with the shape of the jack. He also said weeds found on Darnell's car were similar to those in the area where the girl's body was found.

Clarence Hastert told police his daughter had visited Darnell's sister, Susan, on Sunday. Susan said her brother had taken Kathleen home that evening following a trip to Panama, Iowa, by the three and another sister of Darnell's.

Darnell is married and works as a shipping clerk for a wholesale drug firm. Kathleen was believed dragged from her home shortly before midnight Sunday night by the unknown intruder. Hair curlers and part of her pajamas were found in the yard beside her house. These caused her parents, who returned home about midnight, to call police.

Mrs. Hastert said it appeared her daughter had taken a bath and was about to go to bed. She said Kathleen had cut a piece of pie and put it on the kitchen table.

Mrs. Hastert also said she believes Kathleen must have known who it was who came to her door because she would never have unlocked it for a stranger.

Kathleen, who graduated this June from high school, was described by her sister, Mrs. Delores Petty, as "a happy, normal girl who would harm no one."

Her body was found by two patrolmen, brothers Gary and Larry Williams. She was clad in only a white blouse. A coroner's aide described the slaying as "a particularly vicious kind of attack."

Should Darnell be convicted the maximum sentence he could receive would be life imprisonment. Kathleen was slain only hours after a law banning capital punishment in Iowa went into effect.

Kathleen Hastert's Rites Thursday

Council Bluffs, Iowa (UPI)—Funeral services will be held at 10 a.m. Thursday for Kathleen Rose Hastert, 17, victim of a bludgeoning slaying late Sunday night. The services will be at St. Francis Church, with burial in St. Joseph's Cemetery. She is survived by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Hastert; a sister, Mrs. Nelson Petty of Council Bluffs; a brother, Edward, at home, and grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. John Reisz Sr., Panama, Iowa.

Funeral services will be held at 8:30 a.m. Wednesday at the John A. Gentlemen Mortuary and at 9 a.m. at Holy Cross Church. Burial will be in Holy Sepulchre Cemetery.

'Governor Is Continuing As Fence Rider'

Omaha (AP)—Douglas County Republican Chairman Robert W. Hasebroock Tuesday declared Gov. Frank Morrison is continuing "his favorite position as a political fence rider" in the current state income tax controversy.

"On the one hand he is trying to appease the anti-income tax forces by supporting the referendum, and on the other hand he sees no useful purpose in 10% of the voters signing petitions." (A 10% vote would stall setting up machinery for the income tax measure until after a vote of the people.)

"The Governor's obvious inconsistency is also evident when on one hand he calls for 'enlightened controversy' and on the other hand warns the people against fighting among themselves and destroying their unity and effectiveness," Hasebroock continued.

The Douglas County chairman said the governor's attitude "seems to have affected his party lieutenants, namely the state chairman and national committeewoman, who now all favor a vote of the people on this vital issue."

"Just a year ago those same leaders fought with every resource to prevent the people from voting on another vital issue — the partisan legislation..." he commented.

Hasebroock said the Douglas County Republican organization has a plank in its platform opposing the income tax and "We will support the referendum campaign with great enthusiasm."

Red Cross Ends Relief Operations In Tornado Areas

Omaha (AP)—The American Red Cross has completed disaster relief operations in eight Nebraska counties hit by tornadoes it was announced Tuesday.

Dorothy Staley, representative of the national organization, said Red Cross relief expenditures amounted to $19,745.21. This included $3,260 for repair or replacement of owner-occupied homes, $4,537 for replacement of essential household furnishings, $1,502 for medical and nursing care and $2,358 for replacement of occupational supplies or equipment.

In all, 27 families have received emergency or long term assistance both from the Red Cross. Miss Staley said 7,090 meals were served disaster sufferers, volunteers and national guardsmen helping them in the cleanup.

The families were located in Antelope, Boone, Brown, Greeley, Hall, Howard, Thayer and Wheeler counties.

Wozniak Chosen Washington (AP)—President Johnson nominated Lawrence E. Wozniak to be postmaster of the Fullerton, Neb., post office.

Alliance For Progress

By WILLIAM L. RYAN

(Note: William O. Dobler, The Star's editor, is out of town for a few days. Today's column is by William L. Ryan, special correspondent for the Associated Press.)

WASHINGTON—A heady brew is bubbling in much of Latin America. There is excitement in the air, stirred by the idea that a social revolution is on the way and that it can be accomplished peacefully. This is not true of all 20 nations. Some are as badly mired as ever in swamps of backwardness. But rising confidence is easily detected in many countries.

There is nervousness, too. Some new explosion in the hemisphere could interrupt a momentum gained in recent years. Paradoxically, the Dominican Republic crisis has helped bolster confidence. Explosions expected in its wake failed to materialize. If it had happened five or six years before, few doubt that virtually the whole continent would have been in continuous uproar. The conclusion was that extremists lacked either strength or public support to capitalize on what should have been an ideal situation for them: the unilateral Yankee intervention in a Latin nation. What happened in the interim to produce the change? Mostly, say U.S. sources directly concerned with the area, there has been a change in attitude. It took several years to get the Alliance for Progress under way, but now it is gathering momentum.

Programs now going forward have had important impact on education, culture and ideology. The big effort has been in education. For the young men, accustomed to frustration, there are now alternatives to extremes and violent revolutionary action.

Universities are an important ingredient of the social structure in Latin America. For four centuries there had been nothing new for them. Now the new is being refused. Missions from U.S. universities under Alliance sponsorship have played a large part in this. There is rising interest in sciences, in engineering, in improving the systems of university government and administration, improving facilities and so forth.

At the start, the Alliance heavily stressed the building of schools—the physical plants. But it learned buildings alone were not the answer. Now the buildings come only after there is progress in overall reform programs, specific plans for the whole range of the educational program. All this represents a joining of the contest for student sympathies, in which the communists for a long time had an upper hand. Something else is going on which would have been unthinkable a few years ago. Rich men are complaining about taxes. They did not complain in the past because they did not pay taxes. A few years ago it was almost impossible to talk about tax reforms. Today, some countries collect taxes on graduated scales similar to those of the United States. Internal revenue service teams were successful enough in some areas to convince even the most hidebound that paying taxes is a necessity.

There are other symptoms of change. There is keen interest in what goes on in Chile under President Eduardo Frei's Christian Democratic government. There is rising interest in Christian Democracy itself as a counter-pole to communism, a movement offering social revolution, as the Latin Americans put it, "Revolucion sin pardo"—without firing squads.

In Chile, for the first time in a half century, a presidential candidate—Frei—won last year simultaneously in working class and middle class districts. The Christian Democrats say they seek a national movement uniting the university students—source of Latin America's political elite—with the middle and working classes with the goal of "revolution in liberty."

In Washington, one high U.S. source commented: "It's hard to say when the change took place—as hard as to put an exact date on the Renaissance. But the change is there. It did not begin with President Kennedy, though his impact was great, and it did not stop with his death. The fact that is missed by many is that the Alliance for Progress was an idea—the idea of self-reliance and self-help—which was just as important as the performance. Everyone knew what was wrong: bad systems of government, agriculture, banking, bad social systems, bad military traditions, bad education. The Alliance said: 'All we can do is help. The problems are yours to solve.'"

Eventually, said this informant, if the Alliance is to raise its effectiveness, the ante will have to be raised. The United States now invests $1 billion a year in it, but the capacity of Latin America to absorb help is growing. If the peaceful revolution now apparently under way in some areas is to be expanded, he added, "We've got to tackle things which have not yet been tackled, such as problems of broadened trade, commodity prices and the need of Latin American countries for foreign exchange earning capacity."

The Self-Help Idea

not begin with President Kennedy, though his impact was great, and it did not stop with his death. The fact that is missed by many is that the Alliance for Progress was an idea—the idea of self-reliance and self-help—which was just as important as the performance. Everyone knew what was wrong: bad systems of government, agriculture, banking, bad social systems, bad military traditions, bad education. The Alliance said: 'All we can do is help. The problems are yours to solve.'"

We Paid Again

The long Fourth of July holiday is over. For most Americans it was a joyful time. But for the usual several hundred, it was the end of the road. They died in automobile accidents.

And so it has been every year since the automobile became the great carrier of people. We have better roads nowadays, a police force that did not exist before the day of automobiles, and we have a record breaking number of traffic safety laws. We teach traffic safety in the schools and give professional instruction to beginning drivers. How many lives that saves cannot be determined. But one thing is certain: we didn't do away with highway tragedies.

The July 4 slaughter was accompanied by news that 36 measures are before Congress calling for everything from uniform traffic laws and national safety education to improved car design. We hope some of them become laws and help. But it still seems that the great cause of accidents rests with the car operators themselves, and until we find a way to eliminate the irresponsible driver we shall not make the safety records we are dreaming about.

Certainly most accidents are preventable and the victims themselves are not always to blame. They happened to be traveling along a highway at a time when an irresponsible driver was unwittingly setting up an accident scene. They paid the price.

But until we get to the heart of the accident matter and move effectively against it, it is good advice to drive defensively against all cars on the road for who can tell who is the irresponsible driver until it is too late to make any difference?

Wilderness Life

After months of contending with the rush and pressure of a city it is good to go for a time into the north woods. It is good both for the body and the mind. The untrammelled wilderness, beautiful as it is, may bring physical weariness to the body, but it is a healer of the mind and nervous system. There is little for the mind to do but reflect. And as one sits in a boat, probing for fish, there is no mental labor except looking back at a frenzied past.

In the north woods there is no news except occasionally from a wheezy semi-local radio that comes in with a clear signal only when conditions are right. The news-casts are principally about births and deaths for that is the main thing that happens. No one even falls out of a four story building for there are no such buildings. Even the whistle of a train is an experience in hearing that many of the natives do not know. In such an uncomplac-ed neighborhood there is no problem that a little sleep won't cure. And there is plenty of time for that.

After several weeks of such living one returns sound and whole. But he always returns. Big things do not happen in the wilderness. They happen in cities. And because they happen there, there is opportunity for a person to share.

As a country grows bigger there are those who say that democracy grows smaller. In a country of 200 million one individual is reduced to one 200 millionth part and approaches the level of a statistic. But that is only a half statement. Great collectives of people offer great opportunities, and one does not have to be a statistic. He enjoys a substantial democracy which is proportionate to his ambition and his effort.

But as we say it is good to get away for a while, just because it straightens out the thinking process.

The Kennedy Spirit

New York Senator Robert Kennedy has proved a match for wild nature out in Colorado.

Last winter he scaled Mt. Kennedy in Alaska. It was renamed after the death of President Kennedy and we presume the senator scaled the mountain to prove that there is no gift the Kennedy family cannot put to some use.

His Colorado effort amounted to getting into a rubber raft and shooting the fearsome rapids of the Green and Yampa rivers. Sen. Kennedy got an eyeful of some of nature's most majestic beauty at close range as his raft rushed through the wild water. It certainly was different than anything in his New England boyhood. We doubt that his experience meant much to his New York constituents whose idea of water is either the ocean or something one gets out of a faucet. But the experience, like climbing the mountain, and engaging in a 50 mile hike, is something that coincides with the Kennedy temperament. They are not placid people. They like to compete.

Although Sen. Kennedy does not spring from a family such as pioneered the West, there seems to be a kinship with those early day people who braved the trackless prairies, struggled through the storms of Donner Pass and viewed from a distance the outlines of Scottsbluff. They welcomed the hard way. And it is surprising how many lived to tell the story.

It is good that the spirit of it still lives in America though today most of us are willing to let Sen. Kennedy ride the rafts down a raging stream. We will span the distances by air or Pullman car. It's quicker and safer.

Judiciary Group Is Slow To Act

WASHINGTON — Many senators who will finally vote to confirm controversial ex-Gov. James P. Coleman of Mississippi for the Fifth Circuit Court of Appeals are wondering why he should not be given the same long "rest" that another Mississippi, Chairman James Eastland, has given to Jewish and Negro judges.

Every Negro judge to come before Sen. Eastland's Judiciary committee has been kept waiting nine months to a year for confirmation. The same has been true of most Jewish judges. One, David Rabinowitz of Wisconsin, nominated Sept. 6, 1963, was kept waiting over a year, then never confirmed at all. Judge Thurgood Marshall, counsel for the NAACP and a Negro, was nominated Sept. 26, 1961, to the 2nd Circuit Court of Appeals and kept waiting one year by Sen. Eastland. It was only on Sept. 11, 1962, that the pressure of other senators forced his confirmation.

Judge Irving Ben Cooper, nominated to the U.S. District Court in New York at the same time, was kept waiting by Eastland one whole year, finally was confirmed Sept. 20, 1962. Cooper is Jewish.

Judge Spottwood Robinson III of Virginia, Negro, was kept waiting nine months before confirmation to the U.S. District Court. Eastland, with the help of other Southern senators on the Judiciary committee, kept him waiting from Oct. 1, 1963, to July 1, 1964.

Even before the senator from Mississippi became chairman of the Judiciary committee, that committee, dominated by Southern senators, kept Negro and Jewish judges waiting interminably. Judge William Hastie, first Negro to be appointed to any court of appeals, had to wait from Oct. 16, 1949, to July 19, 1950, before the stubborn Judiciary committee would confirm him.

Fishermen are protesting the Navy's explosion of 4,000 tons of old mine torpedoes 75 miles off New York, New Jersey and Virginia on July 15, as a danger to one of the best fishing grounds of the East coast. The Navy wants to get rid of a lot of aging explosives; at the same time test the underwater sound waves from such explosions. The Navy, after consulting with the Department of Fish and Wildlife, claims there's no danger to fish because they don't live 1,000 feet down, at which depth the explosion will take place... it was four key Republican congressmen, including the probable next mayor of New York, who helped the Johnson administration pass the public housing bill with rent subsidies for middle-income families. The GOP New York congressmen were: John Lindsay, now running for mayor; Ogden Reid, former ambassador to Israel; Seymour Halpern, New York City, and Frank Horton, Rochester, N.Y. The White House also had to promise big city votes for the Southern cotton bill in order to get the public housing bill passed.

Kuchel Beats Libel Smear

WASHINGTON — One of the nastiest attempts at character assassination in a long time has been disposed of as expeditiously and as painlessly as possible. Three of the defendants indicted for criminal conspiracy to libel Sen. Thomas H. Kuchel (R., Calif.) in effect pleaded guilty to the charge and submitted letters of abject apology confessing they had made use of an affidavit wholly false in its allegation of drunkenness and homosexuality.

Having endured the ordeal of publicity and the grand jury inquiry Senator Kuchel will not have to go through the further punishment of testifying in a lengthy trial. Thanks to his determination to see it through and to the effective work of the district attorney's office in Los Angeles, he emerges stronger politically than he was before.

But if this is a fortunate ending it is no reason why the whole sordid episode should be swept under the rug. For an examination of the lengthy record before the grand jury indicates that this was a rather crudely contrived plot by the extremist right to destroy Kuchel, a liberal-moderate and the only demonstrated vote-getter in the party in California. Having removed him, the way would be open to put over Ronald Reagan for the governorship and control of the state with the same protective coloration that enabled another actor, George Murphy, to be elected to the U.S. Senate.

Kuchel is now being urged to run for governor by leaders of influential groups, including the trade unions. He is in the California, middle-of-the-road tradition of his long-time friend, Chief Justice Earl Warren. Warren is the only man in the state's history to be re-elected to a third term as governor. Whether with four more years of his Senate make the race is uncertain. In the libel conspiracy he has had a bitter taste of how far the extremists will go. The primary fight would be rough and California's oil and other newly rich tycoons would pour out money for Reagan.

In this instance he was able to knock down the big smear. But in view of recent Supreme Court decisions governing libel, notably in the case of city officials of Birmingham, Ala., brought against the New York Times, there is a question whether men in public life have any protection against libel, even though it be deliberate libel. Decent citizens fearful of the techniques of character assassination will think several times before venturing to seek public office.

One of the defendants in the Kuchel case, Frank A. Capell, has just brought out a book that combines every known variety of smear. Called "Treason Is The Reason," it is so full of demonstrable falsehoods as to be ludicrous if it were not such a sad commentary on the gullibility of the audience Capell expects to reach.

As an example the author cites a report that J. Edgar Hoover had approved of the appointment of Adam Yarmolinsky as his successor as head of the FBI. Yarmolinsky was a special assistant to Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara who later was at odds with Democratic leaders in the House over a job in the poverty program. Capell reproduces the facsimile of a letter from the FBI head in which Hoover says:

"You may be sure there is no truth to the rumor concerning my choice of a successor and it is my desire to remain in my present capacity as long as I can be of service to my country. It is my earnest hope that my future endeavors will continue to merit your support and approval."

In addition to raking up all the old charges out of the past Capell gives a list of 28 names of high-ranking American diplomats, many of whom have served under Republican and Democratic administrations over the years, whom he alleges are Soviet intelligence agents. The legal counsel for the State Department found that the book contained one libelous statement after another. But to take legal action would only give the book publicity and the outcome would be in doubt.

To laugh off such wild exaggerations is easy enough. But if repeated often enough and particularly in times of tension and national peril they can gain credence. That was one of the most sinister aspects of the rise of Nazism. Hitler understood the technique of the big lie, as he openly boasted. Again and again, as the tragedy of the Weimar Republic drew to a close, decent and well-meaning men were destroyed by deliberate smears against which they found themselves defenseless.

Capell and the other two defendants will be sentenced later this month. Under California law criminal libel is only a misdemeanor subject to a fine of $500 or a year's jail sentence. But on their plea of "no contest," in effect guilty, they can be put on probation for up to three years. This is a demonstration that character assassination does not always pay.

Your Five Cents Worth

Brevity in letters is requested but length in them will have no bearing on publication. Writers are advised that needless details and repetitious matter will be edited out of letters. Two frequent contributors from one source on the same subject may be rejected. All letters must be accompanied by writer's true name but may be submitted for publication under a pen name or initials. However, letters will be printed under a pen name or initials at the editor's discretion.

The Downfall

Lincoln, Neb.

I have read and heard with interest some articles in the news which have aroused my sympathy for the family of a fallen criminal and even for the fallen criminal himself.

Each of us can imagine how we would feel, caught in a crime or facing friends and public after publicity of a crime, not to forget about facing the world after release from prison. Some people face it humbly and accept the fact that wrong has its price. Others magnify their crimes through lie, perjury, deceit and distortion of facts, even to the extent of causing other weaklings in the criminally inclined sense, to fall in attempted defense.

I believe we all should exercise an honest effort to conduct our lives in such a way that temptations of morals, vanity, murder or money cannot cause our own fall. I do not mean to be careful not to be caught, but to abstain from the crime.

The more achievements and honors and awards one possesses must only add to the hurt to the victim in his fall, even though some honor and achievement may be known to the individuals themselves to be undeserved. There may be the wish to prolong the act of enjoying the fruits of crime. This fruit yields no bountiful harvest, as I see it.

WALLIE W. MATTICE

Hruska Proposal

Omaha, Neb.

Majority rule and minority rights are cardinal tenets of democratic government, and Senator Roman Hruska's proposed constitutional amendment, setting aside the one-man, one-vote rule for apportioning state legislatures, violates both these tenets.

Hruska proposes to allow the people to vote on how their legislatures are to be apportioned. Thus, he admits the importance of popular sovereignty and the individual citizen's right to vote. Yet, his amendment could render some citizens' votes worthless. He wrongly asserts, by sponsoring this amendment, that a majority of 51% is entitled to give away its own votes or to deny them to the other 49%—or that 90% could take away votes from the other 10% of the electorate. If this were true, the people could establish a monarchy by a majority vote and give away their own, their neighbors' and their children's votes forever.

Hruska's proposal is probably designed to perpetuate conservative, rural, minority control in state legislatures, and indirectly, in the Congress. This stratagem is likely to backfire. Just as a rural majority votes in 1962 to give itself additional strength in the Nebraska Legislature by taking area into account in drawing legislative districts, an urban majority in 1970 could increase its strength by voting to take into account wealth, population density, or automobiles.

Thanks to the U.S. Constitution and the Supreme Court's courageous decisions in defense of the Constitution, the American people now have the right to vote. Hruska's claim, "The people will have the ultimate decision," is deceptive because his proposal would take away the voting rights which are now theirs.

Everyone who values his own and respects his neighbor's right to vote should oppose Hruska's mischief and support the "one-man, one-vote" principle.

All-Out War

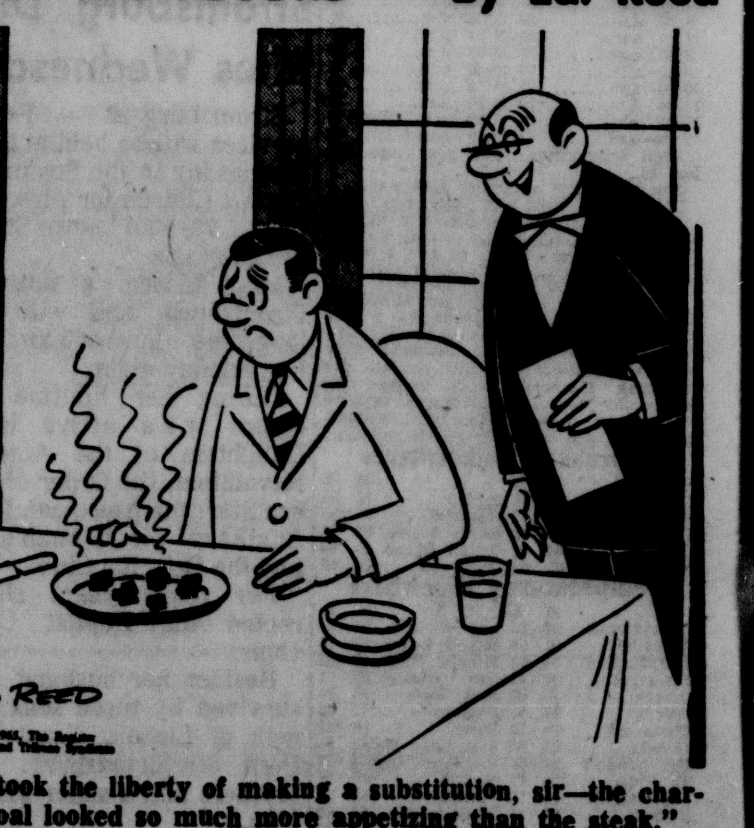

Lincoln, Neb.
I am writing in reply to "Fed Up With College Boys," who wrote a letter appearing in July 1 Star. The writer said several things, many of which I disagree with.

I don't think students are afraid of being drafted because of the escalation of the war in Viet Nam. I believe that if he will check, most of the officers he served with went on to college after graduation. I don't believe it is fear that is making these college boys stand against further involvement in Viet Nam.

Council Okays $1,231 Claim In Accident At Excavation

By BOB SCHREFF
Star Staff Writer

A claim against the city for more than $1,200, arising from a personal injury accident on May 27, was approved by the City Council Tuesday.

The $1,231.81 claim was submitted by Paul Scherer of Lincoln, on behalf of his son, John Robert Scherer, 16, who suffered torn ligaments, a sprained back and a sprained right foot after his motor bike rammed an excavation near 66th and Orchard.

Scherer alleged that the excavation and the pile of dirt that his son hit were not protected by sufficient barricades and lights.

The excavation, made by a private plumbing contractor, was illuminated by two flares at the time of the late-evening accident.

Takes Over

Shortly after the mishap, Lee Boehmer, superintendent of the city paving repair department, said that excavations made by private contractors are the private firm's responsibility until the work is finished. After that, he said, the city takes over and fills up the holes.

The contractor said that the job had been completed during the afternoon of May 27, and that he had notified the city and had put up two flares of his own.

Scherer's claim asked for damages for personal injury, damage to the motor bike, hospital and doctor's fees and loss of income to young Scherer.

The city legal department had recommended approval of the claim if the city could obtain a full release on a settlement of $1,000 or less.

In other action, the council denied an application by Willard Rahe for a special permit to operate a salvage yard near No. 70th and U.S. 6.

'Aesthetic Reasons'

Planning Director Douglas Brogden had recommended denial of the permit for "aesthetic reasons," noting that pending state and federal legislation would regulate the operation of salvage yards on major streets and highways.

The council approved the appointments of Kenneth D. King as a commissioner of the Lincoln Housing Authority and Hal A. Thorson as a member of the City Personnel Board.

Cyclist In Brussels

Brussels, Belgium (AP)—Takafumi Onasawara, 22, a Tokyo University student, pedaled into Brussels on his bicycle after crossing Asia and Europe. He will leave soon for Paris where he will watch the arrival of the annual tour de France cycle race, then go to Scandinavia, Britain and the United States. He left Tokyo in May, 1964.

Sir John Frewen

New Commander Of British Fleet

London (AP)—Adm. Sir John Frewen, who fought alongside the U.S. Navy against the Japanese in World War II and later against the Chinese Communists off Korea, Monday became commander-in-chief of Britain's home fleet, succeeding Adm. Sir Charles Madden.

He also became NATO commander-in-chief of allied forces, Eastern Atlantic.

Sir John served aboard the British aircraft carrier Formidable during the Pacific sea and air battles against Japan. He took part in attacks on Okinawa and on the Japanese mainland.

In the Korean War, Sir John commanded an inshore minesweeper squadron.

Psychiatric Exams Will Be Sought For Pope

The chief defense counsel for Duane Earl Pope said Tuesday he will seek psychiatric examination of the young-Kansas charged with killing three persons and wounding another in the bloodiest bank robbery of modern times.

"We are going to make sure that we understand all of the psychiatric reasons for Pope's amazing and inexplicable behavior," said Robert B. Crosby, a former Nebraska governor who now has a private law practice in Lincoln. "We're not going to leave a single page unturned."

Crosby said he has not contacted any psychiatrists but has discussed the matter with United States District Atty. Theodore Richling, who will prosecute Pope.

Must Approve

Crosby said U.S. District Judge Robert Van Pelt, who presumably will preside at the trial, must give his approval before Pope can undergo mental examination.

Pope, a 22-year-old McPherson (Kan.) College graduate, is accused of committing the bloody June 4 robbery at the Farmers State Bank at Big Springs. Three bank employees were killed and another seriously wounded with pistol shots in the back.

The lanky Kansas has been formally indicted by a federal grand jury in Omaha on six counts related to the robbery.

New Algeria Regime Is Recognized

Washington (UPI)—The United States extended recognition and a friendly hand Tuesday to the new Algerian regime of Col. Houari Boumedienne, who has exchanged messages with President Johnson.

The long-expected U. S. statement that Boumedienne's ouster of President Ahmed Ben Bella meant no interruption of diplomatic relations also contained an offer to explore "avenues of mutual cooperation"—including U.S. aid.

"Foreign Minister (Abdelaziz) Boufellika has informed our ambassador in Algiers (William J. Porter) that the regime considered no formalities were required in regard to recognition," State Department press officer Robert J. McCloskey said.

Expressed Hope

Unannounced but expressed privately was the U.S. hope that Boumedienne has abandoned Ben Bella's anti-Americanism. U. S. officials welcomed Boumedienne's pledge in a speech Monday that he will emphasize economic development at home and non-alignment abroad.

Johnson sent his message over the weekend to Boumedienne in reply to the Algerian's message of congratulations on the U.S. July 4 Independence Day anniversary.

Johnson said the United States "hopes to continue its friendly relations" with the government and people of Algeria.

"Avenues Of Cooperation" McCloskey said, "We have continued to be in close contact with the new regime and are ready to explore with it avenues of mutual cooperation."

Crosby said there is so much investigation to be made that the trial "cannot possibly be held within the next few weeks." However, it definitely will be held in the near future, he said.

Trips Set

Crosby said trips will be made to McPherson College to talk to Pope's friends and professors, and to Roxbury, Kan., Pope's home town, and to Big Springs.

"We want to talk to people who knew him before the event," Crosby said, and people connected with the alleged crime. We want to contact everyone who might be used as witnesses."

Crosby said he and the other court-appointed attorney Wallace Rudolph of the University of Nebraska Law College, have reached no definite decision on what plea should be entered for Pope, who is being retained in the Nebraska Penitentiary.

Eiting Appeals To Top Court

... AFTER REVOCATION ORDER REVERSED

Nebraska Motor Vehicle Director B. H. G. Eiting has appealed to the State Supreme Court a lower court decision reversing a driver's license revocation order.

It was the first such appeal in a long time.

Eiting took the action after a state official complained that department revocations were being overturned regularly by the district courts.

At issue is the one-year ordered revocation of the license of Governor Rollins Ernest of Omaha for accumulating 12 violation points within a 12-month period.

The Douglas District Court reversed the revocation order. It said it was not supported by sufficient fact.

Ernest argued the action was arbitrary and that he needed his license in his work as an insurance agent.

Also appealed to the Supreme Court was a personal injury suit against the Nebraska City School District and the Western Casualty and Surety Co.

The Douglas District Court had overturned a workmen's compensation court award of more than $2,500 to Noel T. Schoenrock for back injuries allegedly suffered when he fell while working for the school district.

Two State Railway Commission orders were appealed by the Ponca and Arlington telephone companies, both of Blair.

Both cases involved an adjustment of rates for local exchange service.

Milford Trade School Will Begin Year-Round Operation

The Milford trade school will begin year-round operation July 12 with approximately 240 freshmen students enrolled for the summer quarter, the State Education Department said Tuesday.

The Legislature approved the 12-month, four-quarter operation last May.

School officials said enrollment for the summer quarter is nearly filled with limited vacancies remaining in auto body, electrical, electronics and welding technology.

Students who completed their first two semesters of training in June will not return until Sept. 1. Total enrollment at that time is expected to be 575, slightly lower than a year ago but normal for the quarter system.

It is anticipated that enrollment will increase to approximately 725 or 750 students by the end of the 1965-67 biennium.

Each school year at the vocational-technical school will consist of four 12-week quarters. In the past, the school operated on the basis of two 16-week semesters with a three month summer interval.

'Centennial' Plate Work To Start Soon

Production of Nebraska's new "centennial" automobile license plates may start at the state penitentiary next week.

Charles Wolff, superintendent of prison industries, said preliminary tests on the plate-making equipment are being completed and initial production may begin within seven days.

The necessary dyes and 90,000 pounds of steel have been received at the penitentiary, which for the first time will be handling the plate-manufacturing chore. The plate factory was moved from the men's reformatory to the penitentiary this year.

The new plates, carrying the word "centennial" instead of "beef state," will be issued for a three-year period beginning Jan. 1, with tabs for renewals in 1967 and 1968. The plates will be reflectorized, with red letters on creme background.

Wolff is hopeful the factory will turn out more than 10,000 high-quality plates per day, with a total of 1.5 million plates to be produced. Forty-five inmates have been trained to work the assembly line.

Wolff promised there would be no repeat of last year's performance when inmates at the men's reformatory turned out numerous inferior plates. Penal Complex Warden Maurice Sigler called it "the worst batch in history."

"That'll never happen again," said Wolff. "We've overhauled the machinery, our foremen are more acquainted with their jobs, the inmates are more stable and we have developed sufficient safeguards to insure quality."

Wolff noted that production would be slow at first because of the necessity of breaking in a new crew, but he was confident enough plates would be produced to meet the demand although production would not be completed until February or March of next year.

First District Meeting Set In Washington

Rep. Clair Callan's Lincoln office said Tuesday the Nebraska First District Development Conference will be held in Washington, D.C. Aug. 2 and 3.

Ted Muenster said more than 50 people have indicated they will attend the conference. Any citizen from the First District may attend if he writes Callan's office.

Speakers will include Secretary of Agriculture Orville Freeman, Sargeant Shriver, war on poverty director, and probably Vice President Hubert Humphrey.

Mayors, city councilmen, chambers of commerce, newspaper, radio and television leaders from the First District are expected to attend the conference.

Regents May Decide Tuition Rates Thursday

The decision of whether tuition rates will be raised at the University of Nebraska apparently will be determined by the Board of Regents Thursday.

A university spokesman said the item is scheduled for consideration at the monthly meeting.

The Legislature has recommended the board hike resident student rates about 25% and non-resident rates about 50%.

Earlier this year, the State Normal Board increased resident and non-resident tuition about 15% at the four state colleges in line with the Legislature's suggestion.

Proposed increases at the university would raise an estimated additional $2.6 million over the two-year fiscal period which began July 1.

Revenue which would be raised by the tuition hike was included in the university's budget approved recently by the Legislature.

While the board does not automatically have to follow legislative dictates in this matter, the built-in appropriation approach leaves the regents with few options.

In a comparison of tuition rates at 13 Midwest universities, Nebraska would rank fifth highest for residents and fourth highest for non-residents if the Legislature's recommendations, drafted by the Budget Committee, were adopted.

The Legislature has proposed resident rates be hiked from $102 to $130 per semester, while non-resident tuition would be boosted from $270 to $400. All Lincoln campus students also pay an additional $30 per semester in fees.

Annual tuition charges at the College of Medicine in Omaha would be increased from $600 to $650 for residents, and from $990 to $1,050 for non-residents.

Annual tuition at the College of Dentistry would be boosted from $430 to $450 for residents and from $840 to $860 for non-residents.

Annual nursing school tuition would be jumped from $230 to $300 for residents and from $280 to $420 for non-residents. Para-medical students would pay $150 instead of $120.

The university last increased tuition rates in 1963.

Eiting Appeals To Top Court

... AFTER REVOCATION ORDER REVERSED

Nebraska Motor Vehicle Director B. H. G. Eiting has appealed to the State Supreme Court a lower court decision reversing a driver's license revocation order.

It was the first such appeal in a long time. Eiting took the action after a state official complained that department revocations were being overturned regularly by the district courts.

At issue is the one-year ordered revocation of the license of Governor Rollins Ernest of Omaha for accumulating 12 violation points within a 12-month period.

The Douglas District Court reversed the revocation order. It said it was not supported by sufficient fact.

Ernest argued the action was arbitrary and that he needed his license in his work as an insurance agent. Also appealed to the Supreme Court was a personal injury suit against the Nebraska City School District and the Western Casualty and Surety Co.

The Oteo District Court had overturned a workmen's compensation court award of more than $2,500 to Noel T. Schoenrock for back injuries allegedly suffered when he fell while working for the school district.

Two State Railway Commission orders were appealed by the Ponca and Arlington telephone companies, both of Blair.

Both cases involved an adjustment of rates for local exchange service.

Milford Trade School Will Begin Year-Round Operation

The Milford trade school will begin year-round operation July 12 with approximately 240 freshmen students enrolled for the summer quarter, the State Education Department said Tuesday.

The Legislature approved the 12-month, four-quarter operation last May.

School officials said enrollment for the summer quarter is nearly filled with limited vacancies remaining in auto body, electrical, electronics and welding technology.

Students who completed their first two semesters of training in June will not return until Sept. 1. Total enrollment at that time is expected to be 575, slightly lower than a year ago but normal for the quarter system.

It is anticipated that enrollment will increase to approximately 725 or 750 students by the end of the 1965-67 biennium.

Each school year at the vocational-technical school will consist of four 12-week quarters. In the past, the school operated on the basis of two 18-week semesters with a three month summer interval.

'Centennial' Plate Work

To Start Soon

Production of Nebraska's new "centennial" automobile license plates may start at the state penitentiary next week.

Charles Wolff, superintendent of prison industries, said preliminary tests on the plate-making equipment are being completed and initial production may begin within seven days.

The necessary dyes and 90,000 pounds of steel have been received at the penitentiary, which for the first time will be handling the plate-manufacturing chore. The plate factory was moved from the men's reformatory to the penitentiary this year.

The new plates, carrying the word "centennial" instead of "beef state," will be issued for a three-year period beginning Jan. 1, with tabs for renewals in 1967 and 1968. The plates will be reflectorized, with red letters on cream background.

Wolff is hopeful the factory will turn out more than 10,000 high-quality plates per day, with a total of 1.5 million plates to be produced. Forty-five inmates have been trained to work the assembly line.

Wolff promised there would be no repeat of last year's performance when inmates at the men's reformatory turned out numerous inferior plates. Penal Complex Warden Maurice Sigler called it "the worst batch in history."

"That'll never happen again," said Wolff. "We've overhauled the machinery, our foremen are more acquainted with their jobs, the inmates are more stable and we have developed sufficient safeguards to insure quality."

Wolff noted that production would be slow at first because of the necessity of breaking in a new crew, but he was confident enough plates would be produced to meet the demand although production would not be completed until February or March of next year.

Regents May Decide Tuition Rates Thursday

The decision of whether tuition rates will be raised at the University of Nebraska apparently will be determined by the Board of Regents Thursday.

A university spokesman said the item is scheduled for consideration at the monthly meeting.

The Legislature has recommended the board hike resident student rates about 25% and non-resident rates about 50%.

Earlier this year, the State Normal Board increased resident and non-resident tuition about 15% at the four state colleges in line with the Legislature's suggestion.

Proposed increases at the university would raise an estimated additional $2.6 million over the two-year fiscal period which began July 1.

Revenue which would be raised by the tuition hike was included in the university's budget approved recently by the Legislature.

While the board does not automatically have to follow legislative dictates in this matter, the built-in appropriation approach leaves the regents with few options.

In a comparison of tuition rates at 13 Midwest universities, Nebraska would rank fifth highest for residents and fourth highest for non-residents if the Legislature's recommendations, drafted by the Budget Committee, were adopted.

The Legislature has proposed resident rates be hiked from $102 to $130 per semester, while non-resident tuition would be boosted from $270 to $400. All Lincoln campus students also pay an additional $30 per semester in fees.

Annual tuition charges at the College of Medicine in Omaha would be increased from $600 to $650 for residents, and from $990 to $1,050 for non-residents.

Annual tuition at the College of Dentistry would be boosted from $430 to $450 for residents and from $840 to $860 for non-residents.

Annual nursing school tuition would be jumped from $230 to $300 for residents and from $280 to $420 for non-residents. Para-medical students would pay $150 instead of $120.

The university last increased tuition rates in 1963.

BRIDE at morning wedding

The wedding of Miss Beverly Clare Dorwart, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Clinton B. Dorwart of Sidney, and Dr. Richard D. Mulholland, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert D. Mulholland of Ft. Dodge, Iowa, took place Saturday morning, July 3, at St. Patrick's Church in Sidney. The nuptial mass was solemnized by Bishop Thomas William Murphy of Juazeiro, Bahia, Brazil, assisted by Msgr. Thomas Siudowski of North Platte, and the Rev. Vincent J. Pelster, Sidney.

Miss Charlotte Anne Dorwart, as her sister's maid of honor, and the bridesmaids, Miss Marylu Dorwart and Miss Deborah Dorwart, also sisters of the bride, Miss Mary Ellen Shaeffer, Sioux Falls, S.D., and Mrs. Bill Hunsacker, Sioux City, were frocked in peacock blue and carried spheres of lavender chrysanthemums.

Serving his brother as best man was Lt. (jg) John Mulholland, USN, and the ushers were Dr. Don Vap, Bladen; Dr. Fred Menghini, Walsenberg, Colo.; Dr. Michael Dunn, Denver; John Lewarne, Iowa City; Kent Oberg, Ft. Dodge, Iowa; Clinton Dorwart, John Dorwart and William Dorwart, brothers of the bride.

The bride's gown of ivory peau de sole was appliqued with imported lace. The strapless bodice of lace was covered by a brief jacket of the silk, and the very full skirt continued into an aisle-wide train. Her bouffant veil of illusion was held by a circlet of heirloom lace over silk, and she carried a prayerbook ornamented with ivory sweetheart roses and valley-lilies.

Dr. and Mrs. Mulholland, both graduates of Creighton University, Omaha, will live in Lincoln, where the bridegroom will take graduate study at the University of Nebraska School of Orthodontics. Mrs. Mulholland will be a member of the faculty of Lincoln General Hospital School of Nursing.

The suburban news this morning brings more tales of holiday get-togethers. An array of picnics and fireworks demonstrations were held at these informal gatherings, and excess pounds show the effects of over consumption at a few of those festive affairs.

NORTHEAST HEIGHTS

It took 44 friends and neighbors around the Northeast Heights area to stage a block picnic last Sunday evening. The no-host affair took place in the garden at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Don Laughlin. The neighborhood get-together is an annual event which now boasts of 10 years of success—as of last Sunday. The evening began with a pot luck supper after which fireworks were displayed.

AN August bride-elect

Announcement is made this morning by Mr. and Mrs. Roy Yeck of Oklahoma City, Okla., of the engagement and approaching marriage of their daughter, Marilyn Ann, to Lt. Larry G. Vacek, son of Mr. and Mrs. George Vacek of Ravenna.

The wedding is planned for Saturday, Aug. 7, and the ceremony will take place at Sacred Heart Church in Oklahoma City. Miss Yeck attended the University of Oklahoma and is a member of Kappa Delta sorority. She now is a student at the Oklahoma College for Women.

Lt. Vacek was graduated from the University of Nebraska, where he is a member of Alpha Tau Omega fraternity, and is stationed at Ft. Bragg, North Carolina.

TALK of the town

There's fun talk this morning and, of course, it has to do with guests who fit in to the three tenses—past, present and future. Since we choose to be non-conformists this morning we'll begin with the 'future' category.

We hear that Mr. and Mrs. Phillip Morgan will be arriving from Portland, Ore., on Friday and will spend several days as the guests of Mr. Morgan's parents, Dr. and Mrs. Harold Morgan.

Among the numerous courtesies for the visitors is a canape party between the hours of 5:30 o'clock and 7:30 o'clock on Wednesday evening, July 14, when Dr. and Mrs. Morgan entertain at their home.

A Friday-to-Sunday visitor in Lincoln was Miss Jane Beaumont of Palo Alto, Calif., who divided her time as a house guest between Mrs. George Haecker and Mr. and Mrs. Drew DeVriendt.

Miss Beaumont, a former Lincoln resident, had not visited in Lincoln for 15 years, but Sunday evening she saw numerous of her old friends when she joined them for dinner at the Lincoln Country Club.

There will be those among the University of Nebraska faculty set who will remember Dr. and Mrs. W. E. Deacon who, by the way, now reside in Atlanta, Ga. And if you remember Dr. and Mrs. Deacon you also will remember their daughter, Jane Deacon—now Mrs. Gene Klare of Portland, Ore.

All of this leads up to the fact that Mr. and Mrs. Klare, their sons, Paul, Max and Mark—their daughter, Mary, and their twins, Amy and Matthew, are spending some time as the guests of Mrs. Klare's grandmother, Mrs. J. A. Brown.

Complimenting Mrs. Klare on Monday evening was Mrs. Lawrence Lindgren who entertained 20 guests at an informal party at her home.

We are sure that Mr. and Mrs. Fritz Noble, formerly of Lincoln—recently of Littleton, Colo., and now of Fort Wayne, Ind., have not been forgotten in this area.

Mr. and Mrs. Noble spent a scant three hours in Lincoln very recently—en route to Fort Wayne from Littleton.

So much for news of guests—and on to a birthday anniversary—We hear that a small group of friends gathered around the pool at the home of Mr. and Mrs. E. J. Faulkner on Monday evening to celebrate Mrs. Faulkner's birthday anniversary. In addition to the around-the-pool chatter, there was a buffet supper.

and Mrs. Richard Roberts and their three children, also plan to visit with Mrs. Payton's brother and sister-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Paul Challstrom, and with her brother, Roger Challstrom.

While most families were anticipating the Fourth of July festivities, Debbie Stark-ey was preoccupied with thoughts of her seventh birthday party. This gay affair took place on Saturday afternoon and was attended by Layne and Robin Nelson, Janell Dorman and by the celebrant's three brothers, Dale, Dwight, and Duane.

Newcomers to the South Hills area and to Brower Road are Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Lehl. Mr. and Mrs. Lehl now have 1830 Brower Rd. as their new home address.

BERLENE HEIGHTS

We have a small new resident to mention in the Berlene Heights area, this morning. The young arrival is Miss Emily Elizabeth Swett who made a late appearance on June 16. Emily is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Swett. We also hear that Emily's paternal grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. E. M. Swett of Sioux City, Iowa had an early glimpse of their newest grandchild as they were on hand very soon after her arrival.

Mr. and Mrs. Emil Hynek and daughter, Diane have had more to celebrate than Independence Day during the past two weeks. It seems that Diane is capable of putting many cooks to shame. Not more than two weeks ago our talented chef took fifth place honors in the National Chicken Cooking contests. After the two days of competition and a shiny new ribbon—and a brand new range, the threesome left Salisbury, Md., and the contest headquarters for some vacation fun. The Worlds' Fair and the historic city of Washington, D.C. were highlights of their vacation adventures.

every man's favorite menu

Every man likes the hearty flavor of pot roast. Even during summer's torrid days there's no need to abandon this robust favorite. Barbecue it outdoors, and eliminate oven heat and pots and pans.

Stay cucumber-cool with the help of an instant meat marinade. Do the roasting outdoors over the coals. Vegetables go into a foil packet, cook along to delicious perfection.

Just add water or other liquid to the pre-blended dry marinade mix, a perfect blend of spices and herbs. Pop a chuck roast into it. In only 15 minutes, meat takes on deep-down, tantalizing flavor that can't cook or burn off, even over hot barbecue fires. This new "instant" adds a golden-brown color so no browning is ever needed.

Though complete in itself, this meat marinade readily adapts as a base for the cook's own choice of additional spices and herbs, or liquids.

BARBECUED CHUCK ROAST A LA MARINADE

- (serves 6)
- 1 lb. chuck, 2" thick (round bone, blade bone, or 7-bone)
 - 1 package instant meat marinade
 - 1/2 cup water
 - 1/3 cup catsup
 - 1 clove garlic, minced or pressed (optional)
 - 1/2 teaspoon rosemary
 - Salt and pepper to taste
 - carrots, cut on bias, no more than 1/2" thick
 - boiling onions
 - 1 medium green pepper, cut in 6 pieces
 - 2 ribs celery, sliced on bias
 - 3 tablespoons butter or margarine
 - 1 Thoroughly blend contents of package of instant meat marinade, water, catsup, garlic and rosemary in a measuring cup
 - 2 Pour marinade over meat in shallow pan. Pierce all surfaces thoroughly with fork. Marinate only 15 minutes, turning several times.
 3. Remove meat from marinade; drain. Barbecue 3 to 4 inches above hot coals (gray, shot with a ruddy glow), 30 to 35 minutes for rare. During cooking, turn and brush frequently with marinade
 4. Parboil carrots, onions and green pepper in water to cover about 5 minutes; drain. Place on large square of heavy-duty aluminum foil. Season to taste with salt, pepper and butter. Bring up lengthwise sides of the foil and seal with a double fold. Double-fold ends of foil upward. Be sure packet is securely sealed. Cook on grill, a total of 15 to 20 minutes, or until vegetables are tender. If desired, divide vegetables into 6 individual packets.

Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: I am a 31-year-old woman who has been divorced five years. I have two children. We live with my parents as my mother is always at home, which makes it convenient for me to work. Besides, if I had my own place it would put a strain on my budget, and my job requires that I dress well and own my own car. I do pay room and board, however.

All my life my father has been domineering, unreasonable and very narrow-minded. Even my mother has never dared to cross him. If I am not in by 12 o'clock, he goes out looking for me. He has burst into places, insulted my escort, and has literally dragged me home with him. My friends have all been respectable, but after such a scene, they never call again.

I don't want to move out as it is so very comfortable and convenient having Mother to look after my children, and do all the laundry and cooking and cleaning. But I can't live like this, either. What would you do if you were in my shoes?

WANTS FREEDOM
DEAR WANTS: Which do you want more? The convenience of a live-in cook, cleaning woman and 24-hour baby sitting service? Or the right to live your own life? Obviously, you can't have both. If I were in your shoes, I would prefer the latter. And the longer you wait, the more difficult the break will be.

DEAR ABBY: I suspected that my husband was running around with a certain girl so I had him tailed by a private detective. They followed him to a motel where he checked in with this girl. They stayed only 32 minutes and then left. Do you think he could be guilty of wrong-doing?

HIS WIFE
DEAR WIFE: You're his wife; I'll ask you. Could he?

DEAR ABBY: In a club initiation recently I had to shoplift a pair of shoes. I did this easily at a self-service shoe mart by taking a new pair of shoes and replacing them with an old pair I wore in. I didn't feel guilty while I was doing it, but I do now. I wanted to get into this club at all costs because all the cool kids belong. What should I do?

FEELING GUILTY
DEAR FEELING: Return the stolen shoes to the manager of the shoe mart, explain the circumstances and take the consequences. Since you wore the shoes out of the store, prepare to pay for them. I suggest you find "cooler" kids to go with before you end up in the "cooler."

DEAR ABBY: What do you say to a person who asks a lot of very personal questions in a crowd? This woman said to me, "It's funny that you've been married almost four years and don't have any children. Don't you WANT any? Or can't you HAVE any?"

NO NERVE
DEAR NO NERVE: The meek will inherit a lot of earthly questions. Muster the courage to tell her that it is none of her business.

Problems? Write to ABBY, Box 69700, Los Angeles, Calif. For a personal reply, enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Bouquets of white gladioli decorated the altar of St. Hilary of Poitiers Church in Philadelphia, for the marriage of Miss Mary Barbara Reinhard, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William M. Reinhard of Philadelphia, to Gary Jay Webster, son of Mr. and Mrs. Jason S. Webster of Lincoln. The service was solemnized at 11 o'clock by the Rev. William Seelaus.

Empire frocks of silk linen in crystal blue were worn by Miss Anne Kopmeier of Milwaukee, as the maid of honor, and the bridesmaids, Miss Lorna Webster, Lincoln, sister of the bridegroom; and Miss Shelly Bustard, Jenkintown, Pa.

Ronald Thies of Alexandria, Va., served Mr Webster as best man, and seating the guests were Joel Williamson and Jerome Burns, Alexandria.

The bride selected white raw silk for her wedding gown. Appliques of Alencon lace touched the rounding neckline of the long-sleeved bodice, and were repeated at the hem of the slim skirt, which was completed by a panel train of the silk. Her illusion veil was held by a jeweled crown, and white roses and valley-lilies formed her cascade bouquet.

Following a short wedding trip, the couple will reside in Arlington, Va. The bride is a graduate of Trinity College, Washington, D.C., and Mr. Webster received his degree from South Dakota State University at Brookings.

Opening lead — king of hearts.

Here is a fascinating hand from Spotlight on Card Play by Robert Darvas and Paul Lukacs.

South is declarer at three notrump and West leads the king of hearts, East playing the five. South's problem is to play the hand so as to give himself the best chance of making the contract.

First let's assume that South wins the king with the ace and takes a diamond finesse. East wins the king, returns a heart, and South is now kaput. West cashes the four hearts and South goes down one.

Next let's assume that South refuses the king of hearts, playing the three on it. (This play is known as the Bath Coup.) If South could induce West to play another heart now, he would have no trouble at all making the hand. But if West is an experienced player he is unlikely to continue with a heart, since he can tell that declarer almost surely has the A-J.

West would presumably shift to the queen of spades at trick two and continue with spades until South took the ace. Eventually South would go down one losing a heart, three spades and a diamond.

Declarer's proper play at trick one is to drop the jack on the king! West would have to be a very shrewd cookie to discontinue hearts after this amazing play.

He would naturally assume that declarer's heart holding was the A-J alone, which would be consistent with East's having the 6-5-3 and signaling mild encouragement with the five.

West would almost surely continue with a heart to force the ace. South could now afford to win the trick and take a diamond finesse, thus making the contract despite the loss of the finesse.

It would be unfair to blame West for falling into the trap if South made the highly imaginative play of false-carding with the jack of hearts at trick one. Good plays are expected to pay off.

every man's favorite menu

Every man likes the hearty flavor of pot roast. Even during summer's torrid days there's no need to abandon this robust favorite. Barbecue it outdoors, and eliminate oven heat and pots and pans.

Stay cucumber-cool with the help of an instant meat marinade. Do the roasting outdoors over the coals. Vegetables go into a foil packet, cook along to delicious perfection.

Just add water or other liquid to the pre-blended dry marinade mix, a perfect blend of spices and herbs. Pop a chuck roast into it. In only 15 minutes, meat takes on deep-down, tantalizing flavor that can't cook or burn off, even over hot barbecue fires. This new "instant" adds a golden-brown color so no browning is ever needed.

Though complete in itself, this meat marinade readily adapts as a base for the cook's own choice of additional spices and herbs, or liquids.

BARBECUED CHUCK ROAST A LA MARINADE

- (serves 6)
- 4 lb. chuck, 2" thick (round bone, blade bone, or 7-bone)
 - 1 package instant meat marinade
 - 1/2 cup water
 - 1/3 cup catsup
 - 1 clove garlic, minced or pressed (optional)
 - 1/2 teaspoon rosemary
 - Salt and pepper to taste
 - 6 carrots, cut on bias, no more than 1/2" thick
 - 12 boiling onions
 - 1 medium green pepper, cut in 6 pieces
 - 2 ribs celery, sliced on bias
 - 3 tablespoons butter or margarine
1. Thoroughly blend contents of package of instant meat marinade, water, catsup, garlic and rosemary in a measuring cup.
 2. Pour marinade over meat in shallow pan. Pierce all surfaces thoroughly with fork. Marinate only 15 minutes, turning several times.
 3. Remove meat from marinade; drain. Barbecue 3 to 4 inches above hot coals (gray, shot with a ruddy glow), 30 to 35 minutes for rare. During cooking, turn and brush frequently with marinade.

Jack Nicklaus Not Satisfied With Sub-Par Round

Southport, England (U)—Jack Nicklaus, the reigning Masters champion, fired an eight-under-par 65 Tuesday in a final practice for the Wednesday opening of the British Open Golf Championship and then remarked:

"I'm still not completely satisfied."

The husky blond bomber from Columbus, Ohio, is the 2-1 favorite to beat a star-studded international field and capture the only major championship to elude his grasp so far.

Arnold Palmer of Latrobe, Pa., a two-time winner of the British Open, is the second favorite at 5-1 odds.

The field of 130 will start off with single 18 hole rounds over the par 73, 7,837 Royal Birkdale course on Wednesday and Thursday. Then the survivors of the cutoff will play the final 36 holes on Friday.

And Kel Nagle, Australian runner-up to Player in the U.S. Open and winner of the Centenary British Open by one stroke from Palmer in 1960; Peter Thomson, four-time winner from Australia; Bruce Devlin of Australia, and Doug Sanders from Ojai, Calif.

The United States has seven pros in the glittering field.

In addition to Nicklaus, Palmer, Lema and Sanders, there's Phil Rodgers of LaJolla, Calif.; Terry Dill, a 26-year-old bomber from Muleshoe, Tex.; and Sam Snead, the World Seniors champion and winner of the British Open in 1946, from White Sulphur Springs, W.Va.

It all adds up to one of the most fascinating championships in 105 years—and most experts agree that any from a dozen could take the title.

The winner qualifies automatically for the $100,000 World Series which matches the British Open champion and the winners of the U.S. Open, Masters and PGA.

Lema won the British title at St. Andrews in Scotland last year and then went on to pick up $50,000 for victory in the World Series.

The Royal Birkdale is a course to trouble and worry the best with weather conditions changing rapidly and high winds likely to whip in from the Irish Sea.

But it didn't worry Nicklaus as he played his final practice round.

Nicklaus had eight birdies, and at the 153-yard seventh he nearly had a hole in one. His shot was dead to the pin.

Par for the Birkdale course is:

Out 544 344 344—35
In 443 535 455—38-73

Nicklaus tamed the course with these figures:

Out 443 344 244—32
In 343 434 444—33-65

Palmer, around in "about par," admitted that he's still putting badly. "And now, it's a bit late to get that putter going right.

"I've not putted well since 1963. But we'll see."

Two American amateurs also are in the field—Mike Hadlock, the long driver from Houston, Tex., and Bruce Richards of Seattle, Wash. Hadlock and Richards both joined the elite 130 by qualifying.

Bill Campbell, the Huntington, W.Va., amateur who won the United States Amateur this year, was scratched by default Tuesday. Tournament officials replaced him with England's rising youngster, Clive Clark.

Fifth-Inning Scoring Spree Gives Gerry's 6-2 Victory

... OVER FREMONT JUNIORS

Gerry's took a 6-2 American Legion junior baseball victory over Cornhusker Legion Tuesday night, but the game wasn't as cut-and-dried as the score might indicate.

It took a big fifth-inning scoring spree before Gerry's could even faze Fremont hurler Mike Draemel. Until that point Draemel had limited the Lincoln club to only one hit, a single by third baseman John Graham.

But in the bottom of the fifth, trailing 2-0, Gerry's scored four times, taking the lead, on only two hits.

Catcher Jack Galusha led off the inning, and worked Draemel for a walk. Graham followed with another walk, and Draemel hit the next batter, Delbert Blair with a 0-2 pitch, loading the bases.

Galusha and Graham scored on Dennis Barber's single to shallow right field, and a wild pitch to Frank Brill scored Smith. Brill then boomed a fly ball to deep center and Barber came in with the fourth Gerry's run of the inning, as centerfielder Dave Christensen's throw was too late.

Draemel got out of the inning without any further scoring damage, but not before Gerry's had again loaded the bases on a single by Bill Bauer and another base on balls to Jan Hanson.

Draemel was given a two-run lead in the second inning, when leftfielder Delbert Blair reached base on a throwing error by Gerry's shortstop Barber. Blair scored on a single, by Jeff Taylor followed by an error by Gerry's centerfielder Bauer. A passed ball sent Taylor to third, and a wild pitch by Gerry's hurler Mike Bouman, making his first start in over a month, brought in the run.

Neither team could score again until the seventh, although Draemel, who went the distance and took the loss for Fremont, never seemed to regain his stride.

Brill led off the Gerry's half of the seventh, getting on an error by Fremont shortstop Taylor. Draemel then walked Hanson and Bauer successively, and then heaved a wild pitch past catcher Delbert Blair, who had taken his brother's place behind the plate, scoring Brill. Mike Delaney then rifled a single to score Hanson, and gave Gerry's a four-run cushion.

Bouman ran into some trouble in the ninth, as an error and a single placed runners on first and third with two gone. Gerry's coach Dave Myers called in Delaney to get the final out.

Bouman worked 8 2-3 innings in taking the win. He struck out eight, walked three, and gave up seven hits before being replaced by Delaney. Delaney faced only one batter in the ninth, getting him on a short bouncer back to the mound.

Jack Nicklaus Not Satisfied With Sub-Par Round

Wednesday, July 7, 1965

The Lincoln Star 11

... IN WARMUP FOR TODAY'S BRITISH OPEN GOLF TOURNEY

Southport, England (AP)—Jack Nicklaus, the reigning Masters champion, fired an eight-under-par 65 Tuesday in a final practice for the Wednesday opening of the British Open Golf Championship and then remarked:

"I'm still not completely satisfied."

The husky blond bomber from Columbus, Ohio, is the 2-1 favorite to beat a star-studded international field and capture the only major championship to elude his grasp so far.

Arnold Palmer of Latrobe, Pa., a two-time winner of the British Open, is the second favorite at 5-1 odds.

The field of 130 will start off with single 18 hole rounds over the par 73, 7,037 Royal Birkdale course on Wednesday and Thursday. Then the survivors of the cutoff will play the final 36 holes on Friday.

And Kel Nagle, Australian runner-up to Player in the U.S. Open and winner of the Centenary British Open by one stroke from Palmer in 1960; Peter Thomson, four-time winner from Australia; Bruce Devlin of Australia, and Doug Sanders from Ojai, Calif.

The United States has seven pros in the glittering field.

In addition to Nicklaus, Palmer, Lema and Sanders, there's Phil Rodgers of LaJolla, Calif., Terry Dill, a 26-year-old bomber from Muleshoe, Tex., and Sam Snead, the World Seniors champion and winner of the British Open in 1946, from White Sulphur Springs, W.Va.

It all adds up to one of the most fascinating championships in 105 years—and most experts agree that any from a dozen could take the title.

The winner qualifies automatically for the $100,000 World Series which matches the British Open champion and the winners of the U.S. Open, Masters and PGA.

Lema won the British title at St. Andrews in Scotland last year and then went on to pick up $50,000 for victory in the World Series.

The Royal Birkdale is a course to trouble and worry the best with weather conditions changing rapidly and high winds likely to whip in from the Irish Sea.

But it didn't worry Nicklaus as he played his final practice round.

Nicklaus had eight birdies, and at the 158-yard seventh he nearly had a hole in one. His shot was dead to the pin.

Par for the Birkdale course is:

Out 544 344 344—35

In 443 535 455—38-73

Nicklaus tamed the course with these figures:

Out 443 344 244—32

In 343 434 444—33-65

Palmer, around in "about par," admitted that he's still putting badly. "And now, it's a bit late to get that putter going right.

"I've not putted well since 1963. But we'll see."

Two American amateurs also are in the field—Mike Hadlock, the long driver from Houston, Tex., and Bruce Richards of Seattle, Wash. Hadlock and Richards both joined the elite 130 by qualifying.

Bill Campbell, the Huntington, W.Va., amateur who won the United States Amateur this year, was scratched by default Tuesday. Tournament officials replaced him with England's rising youngster, Clive Clark.

FORMER CHAMPS TESTIFY

Dempsey, Tunney, Rocky Recommend Commission

... TO CONGRESSIONAL COMMITTEE

Washington (AP)—Three former heavyweight boxing champions told a congressional committee Tuesday that the fight game is getting worse and a boxing commission should be created to control the sport's money grab in this era of electronics.

Rocky Marciano, the most recent of the three heavyweight kings, also suggested that the sport might be improved by a little boxing league to develop talent.

Jack Dempsey, looking muscular and fit at 70, told the House Commerce Committee in reply to questions that he thought gangsters were pretty much in control of boxing at one time. But he didn't know about today.

Gene Tunney, who took the heavyweight crown from Dempsey, didn't appear personally but sent a statement through his son, Rep. John V. Tunney, D-Calif. He said the proposed commission should bar any suspicious fight from being described or broadcast by interstate television, radio or wire services.

Young Tunney, after reading his father's statement, urged the committee to draft a stronger bill than the one being considered. He also put in the record a letter from a man he named as Albert Cohen.

Tunney said Cohen had had many fights and knew of numerous cases of fighters having to guarantee how a bout would end or else not get any more fights.

Dempsey, in reply to questions, said it was possible to tell when a fighter was "pulling his punches," or laying down on the job.

"If you know a fighter's style and if you've been around you can pretty well tell what's going on," said Dempsey.

Asked if word is ever spread that a certain fight is fixed, Dempsey said "They never tell you these things. . . You see where the betting goes." He said there are times when you can "read between the lines of newspaper stories . . . and see the picture."

Chairman E. William Henry of the Federal Communications Commission said there is a "definite public interest in taking effective measures to insure that the viewing public is not subjected to 'rigged' television matches." But the language of such a bill is a problem, he added.

Marciano, looking a lot heavier since he retired as champion, said it is necessary for the federal government to step in to control boxing because he said the state boxing commissioners are making a mockery of the sport.

Before he went into the hearing, Marciano was asked by a newsman if he thought fights were fixed. Marciano said he didn't. He thought the trouble was "fighters aren't in good condition." He added "They are only interested in making money."

Dempsey and Marciano suggested that a federal boxing commission should have more power than to stop the interstate transmission of the description of a fight. They said a fight should not be telecast without approval of the commission.

They also urged the proposed commission have power to license boxers, managers, promoters and seconds.

Tunney's statement said if broadcasts of suspicious fights could have been barred "we would not have had the sorry spectacles produced in the last four so-called heavyweight championship matches."

The American people, he said, "were bilked out of at least $30 million to witness these fiascos through closed circuit television and live gate."

Dempsey said the practice of return bouts for a defeated champion is one of the things killing boxing.

Such practices, Dempsey said, resulted in "one-round knockouts in return bouts between Sonny Liston and Floyd Patterson and Cassius Clay and Liston." He acknowledged that a one-round knockout didn't mean anything was wrong with the fight.

Rep. William L. Springer, R-Ill., who urged the current inquiry, suggested that it be expanded to cover the impact of commercialism on other spectator sports.

Mets Call Former Missouri Pitcher

New York (AP)—The New York Mets have recalled Dennis Musgraves, a 21-year-old right-handed pitcher, from their Buffalo farm club of the International League, Club President George Weiss announced Tuesday.

Jim Bethke, an 18-year-old pitcher, was optioned to the same club.

Musgraves received the biggest bonus ever given to a youngster by the Mets, a reported $100,000, when he was signed off the University of Missouri campus as a sophomore last year.

Musgraves had a 2-5 won and 10-1 record at Buffalo this season, but his manager, Sheriff Robinson, said he considered the youngster his best pitcher.

"The record is deceiving," said Robinson. "He was improving steadily after a poor start."

Bethke appeared in 17 games, all in relief, for the Mets. His record was 2-0.

In announcing the player exchange Weiss took a pot shot of the first year rule.

Under the rule, a major league club is permitted to option one first year player without having to go through the waiver procedure. The player becomes a designated player.

"Bethke is a typical victim of the first year rule," said Weiss. "The legislation handicaps his opportunity to develop in the minors, where he would be vulnerable in the draft if shipped out during his first season without the benefit of a designated player label."

In citing the hardships imposed on the Mets by the rule that freezes the first year players on the major league roster, Weiss observed that his cellar club had to carry five such players on its roster this year.

In addition to Bethke, they are Ron Swoboda, Danny Napoleon, Sug McGraw and Kevin Connors. Musgraves replaces Bethke. Connors is on the disabled list because of a shoulder separation.

"Actually, the development of these inexperienced men would have been speeded had they been in position to learn their trade in the minor leagues," said Weiss. "Instead, they are pitted against proven players throughout the entire major league campaign."

Fifth-Inning Scoring Spree Gives Gerry's 6-2 Victory

... OVER FREMONT JUNIORS

By TOM HENDERSON
Star Sports Writer

Gerry's took a 6-2 American Legion junior baseball victory over Cornhusker Legion League foe Fremont Tuesday night, but the game wasn't as cut-and-dried as the score might indicate.

It took a big fifth-inning scoring spree before Gerry's could even faze Fremont hurler Mike Draemel. Until that point Draemel had limited the Lincoln club to only one hit, a single by third baseman John Graham.

But in the bottom of the fifth, trailing 2-0, Gerry's scored four times, taking the lead, on only two hits.

Catcher Jack Galusha led off the inning, and worked Draemel for a walk. Graham followed with another walk, and Draemel hit the next batter, Delbert Smith with a 0-2 pitch, loading the bases.

Galusha and Graham scored on Dennis Barber's single to shallow right field, and a wild pitch to Frank Brill scored Smith. Brill then boomed a fly ball to deep center and Barber came in with the fourth Gerry's run of the inning, as centerfielder Dave Christensen's throw was too late.

Draemel got out of the inning without any further scoring damage, but not before Gerry's had again loaded the bases on a single by Bill Bauer and another base on balls to Jan Hanson.

Draemel was given a two-run lead in the second inning, when leftfielder Delbert Blair reached base on a throwing error by Gerry's shortstop Barber. Blair scored on a single, by Jeff Taylor followed by an error by Gerry's centerfielder Bauer. A passed ball sent Taylor to third, and a wild pitch by Gerry's hurler Mike Bouman, making his first start in over a month, brought in the run.

Neither team could score again until the seventh, although Draemel, who went the distance and took the loss for Fremont, never seemed to regain his stride.

Brill led off the Gerry's half of the seventh, getting on on an error by Fremont shortstop Taylor. Draemel then walked Hanson and Bauer successively, and then heaved a wild pitch past catcher Delbert Blair, who had taken his brother's place behind the plate, scoring Brill. Mike Delaney then rifled a single to score Hanson, and gave Gerry's a four-run cushion.

Bouman ran into some trouble in the ninth, as an error and a single placed runners on first and third with two gone. Gerry's coach Dave Myers called in Delaney to get the final out.

Bouman worked 8 2-3 innings in taking the win. He struck out eight, walked three, and gave up seven hits before being replaced by Delaney. Delaney faced only one batter in the ninth, getting him on a short bouncer back to the mound.

Bums Regain First Position

... BY BOMBING REDS

Cincinnati (AP)—Lou Johnson rapped three hits, driving in two runs, and Dick Tracewski knocked in two runs on two hits as the Los Angeles Dodgers outslugged Cincinnati 11-7 Tuesday night and climbed back into first place in the National League.

The Reds, who led the Dodgers by two percentage points before the game, dropped into second place, one game back.

Don Drysdale snapped a five-game losing streak and gained his 12th victory against eight defeats although he was knocked from the mound in the seventh inning on successive home runs by Frank Robinson and Gordy Coleman. Drysdale also hit his fourth homer of the season in the second.

Johnson doubled across a run in the three-run first inning and drove in another with his second double in the three-run fifth. He added a punt single in the ninth. Tracewski singled across runs in the fifth and seventh innings.

John Roseboro also knocked in two Los Angeles runs, lofting a first-inning sacrifice fly and bringing in Johnson with a single in the fifth. Maury Wills had a single and a double and stole two bases for a total of 51.

Robinson, Coleman and Deron Johnson each had three hits, leading Cincinnati's 14th attack. Robinson drove in three runs, Coleman two and Johnson one.

Ron Clarke Avenges Loss

Stockholm (AP)—Australia's Ron Clarke avenged a loss to Kenya's Kipchongge Keino in a fast 5,000 meters race, while American Dyrol Burleson and Canadian Bill Crothers won their specialties in an international track meet Tuesday night.

Clarke, who has a pending world record of 13:25.8 for 5,000 meters (3 miles, 188 yards), came from behind and won handily over the Kenya policeman in 13:26.4. Keino was about 10 seconds slower. Belgium's Gaston Roelants, the world record holder for the $3,000 meter steeplechase was third.

Keino ran the second fastest 5,000 ever—13:26.2—in beating Clarke on a water-logged track in Finland last Friday.

Burleson, an Oregonian Olympian now studying in Stockholm, sprinted at the finish to win the 1,500-meter run in 3:41.8. He overhauled Sweden's Carl-Udo Olofsson, who was second in 3:42.4.

Crothers, the Olympic silver medalist in the 800-meter run, collared Kenya's Wilson Kiprigit in the stretch and took the 800 in 1:47.3. This equalled the Olympic Stadium record.

This was the first duel between Crothers and Kiprigit since they finished second and third to New Zealand's Peter Snell in the Olympic 800-meter final.

Gubner To Head U.S. Weightlifting Squad Abroad

New York (AP)—Heavyweight Gary Gubner of New York heads a seven-man weightlifting squad named Tuesday to represent the United States in the Seventh World Maccabiah Games in Tel Aviv, Israel, Aug. 23-31.

Gubner, a former New York University track star, won both the shot put and weightlifting gold medals in the 1961 Games.

Middle heavyweight Paul Ash of Tucson, Ariz., and middleweight Richard Giller of Detroit, two other 1961 winners, also were picked for the team along with Stan Levin of San Diego, 132-pounds; Lawrence Mintz of New York, 148; William Kowaloff of Huntington Station, N.Y., 165; and Joe Jessinowski of New York, 181.

Stern Attempts To Keep Lambert Trophy Tonight

... IN JOURNAL-STAR SWIM MEET

By TOM HENDERSON
Star Sports Writer

Bob Stern will make an attempt at his third successive Cliff Lambert Trophy tonight, as 111 swimmers and divers compete in the annual Lincoln Journal-Star Championship Age Group and Senior Diving Meet. The meet will be held at Wood's Memorial Pool.

Diving competition begins at 4 p.m., with the swimming events starting on the completion of the diving.

Stern, who has won the men's 200-meter freestyle event, the winner of which receives the Lambert Trophy, for the last two years, will be trying to win the cup for keeps this year.

The last swimmer to retire the trophy was Dave Frank, now a teammate of Stern's on the University of Nebraska swimming team. Frank won the event in 1960-61-62.

Stern, however, isn't unopposed in his quest for the title. Four other competitors are eager to upset the defending champion. King Little, Todd Hall, Jerry Coy, and Scott Wright all have their eyes on the trophy, and all have a chance.

Champions galore dominate the entries. Stan Ewing will compete in the 13-14-year-old boys events. Ewing is the most impressive swimmer in the division, but he should be pressed by Kelly Cook, and Sam Knight, both capable swimmers.

Mark Bryan, who holds many records, will headline the 11-12-year-old boys competition. But Bryan won't be alone in the pool either. Ready to dunk him if he falters will be Tom McKinny, another good one.

As for the girls, Dee Schmidt holds the edge in the 11-12-year-old age group. Peggy Garrison should offer the challenge here.

Three girls will fight it out for the 13-14-year old girls honors. They would be Charlin Walter, Tina Adams, and Candy Frank. All have worked their way to championships in the lower age groups.

All entries in the meet are individual. No clubs are entered.

Dick Klaas, University of Nebraska swimming coach, will be the meet director.

Bob Buhl Asks To Be Traded

... ATTACKS KLEIN

New York (AP)—Veteran pitcher Bob Buhl of the Chicago Cubs wants to be traded because he feels head coach Leo Kohn has no confidence in him.

"It's a very personal," the 36-year-old right-hander emphasized Tuesday. "I've never had any words with Kohn. It's just that the man hasn't got any confidence in me. That's why I asked to be traded."

Buhl, a man who believes in speaking his mind, went directly to Kohn and told him he would be traded shortly after he had been yanked from the mound in a game against the San Francisco Giants Sunday.

Still fresh in Buhl's mind was an incident in Houston June 14, a day after Kohn had replaced Bob Kennedy as head coach. Kohn had pulled him with a five-hitter and a 5-0 lead over the Astros going into the ninth.

"The climax, as far as I'm concerned, came Sunday in Chicago," Buhl said. "This time I was out of the game with just one out to go in the fifth. In the process of getting the first two outs, Willie Mays and Jesus Alou reached base on a pair of infield scratches."

"Now, he's (Kohn) out there to get me, while I'm trying to tell him I'm okay. I had good stuff, but it didn't make any difference, I was gone."

Kohn could not be reached immediately.

Charley Grimm, a Cubs' official, said, "I'm completely out of it. No comment."

Buhl, 36, came to the Cubs from the Milwaukee Braves April 20, 1962, in a trade for pitcher Jack Curtis. The right-hander has an 8-6 record with two complete games in 18 starts.

Buhl, who has a 155-119 record in 13 seasons in the major leagues, said he had two talks with Kohn.

"In our first talk, he promised to get in touch with John Holland, club vice president, and see what can be worked out about trading me as soon as possible," said Buhl.

"We talked again today, and this time he didn't say anything about a trade. He expressed surprise at the way I felt about it."

"I told him I had been thinking about it for two days and I just couldn't hold it in any longer. I just felt it would be best for the club, for him and for myself for me to be traded."

"I may not be a politician, but I like to think I'm honest. I'd rather have things come out in the open than brood silently about it and let it affect my work."

"I know this. Whether I'm traded or not, I'll continue to give 100 per cent. I've always done that wherever I've pitched. Baseball is my bread and butter, and I don't ever intend to do anything to jeopardize it."

Governor's Sweepstakes Tourney Set

The Lincoln Municipal Golfers Association has asked Mayor Dean Petersen and the City Council to help "kick off" the first annual "Governor's Sweepstakes" golf tournament.

The 36-hole amateur event will be held July 31 and August 1 at the Holmes Park and Pioneers courses.

The association's publicity director, Tom Andreas, presented complimentary tickets to Petersen and council members.

Andreas said that the group of 200 golf enthusiasts feel that the city has given Lincoln golfers "the most outstanding facilities" in the Midwest.

The sweepstakes will offer $2,000 in prizes and golfers will qualify for nine flights of medal play.

Twins Bomb Boston, 9-0

Minneapolis-St. Paul (AP)—Jimmie Hall crashed a pair of two-run homers and Jim Grant checked Boston on eight hits, leading Minnesota to a 9-0 victory Tuesday night. It was the sixth straight triumph for the American League-leading Twins.

Hall cracked his first homer in the first inning after Zoilo Versalles had doubled. His second blast, in the second inning, came with Versalles aboard on a fielder's choice.

Don Mincher hit a solo homer for Minnesota in the first inning and the Twins added four more runs in the seventh, Bernie Allen's single scoring two of them.

Grant, now 9-2, registered his third shutout of the season and Minnesota's second straight over the Red Sox. It was Grant's seventh complete game.

The Red Sox mustered their most serious threat in the fifth when they loaded the bases with three straight singles after one out. But Felix Mantilla hit into an inning-ending double play.

Tigers Bomb Yankees, 8-0

Detroit (AP)—Denny McLain scattered seven hits for his sixth straight victory as the Detroit Tigers pounded the New York Yankees 8-0 Tuesday night.

Bill Freehan and Norm Cash led the Tigers' 12-hit attack with two-run homers, and each drove in three runs.

Freehan homered off loser Mel Stottlemyer after a walk to Don Wert in the second inning and Cash connected off reliever Gil Blanco in the eighth with Willie Horton, who had doubled, on base.

The Tigers added three runs in the fourth on doubles by Jim Northrup and Al Kaline, singles by Cash and Wert and an infield grounder by Freehan.

Dick McAuliffe's triple and a sacrifice fly by Jerry Lumpe completed the Detroit scoring in the fifth.

McLain, now 7-3, struck out eight and walked one. The Yankees did not get a man past second base against the young right-hander until the ninth.

Cardwell Gives Bucs 8-4 Victory

Philadelphia (AP)—Don Cardwell pitched a six-hitter for his seventh straight victory and singled in two runs as Pittsburgh defeated Philadelphia 8-4 Tuesday night.

Cardwell, now 8-2, allowed only four hits, three in the fourth until the eighth inning when Johnny Callison unloaded a three-run homer following Donn Clendenon's two-out error on Johnny Briggs' grounder and a single by Cookie Rojas.

The Pirates took advantage of two Philadelphia errors for five unearned runs. Bill Virdon reached first base in the third on Rojas' boot and later scored on Bill Mazeroski's double.

They put the game away in the fifth, scoring five runs with four being unearned. Virdon and Clemente singled with none out, and Willie Stargell loaded the bases when first baseman Dick Stuart took his grounder and threw high to second for an error.

Clendenon followed with a two-run single and scored on Cardwell's two-run single. Bob Bailey closed out the rally with a run-producing single.

Steve Barber Stops KC, 4-1

Kansas City (AP)—Steve Barber drove in two runs with a homer and a sacrifice fly and stopped Kansas City on three hits before needing Dick Hall's relief help in the ninth inning as Baltimore defeated the Athletics 4-1 Tuesday night.

Barber had retired 15 consecutive batters before walking Jim Landis and Ed Charles with two out in the ninth. Hall came on and ended the threat by retiring Ken Harrelson on a fly ball.

Barber, now 7-6, hit his first homer of the season in the third inning and drove in Sam Bowers with a sacrifice fly in the fourth.

The Orioles took a 1-0 lead in the first inning when Brooks Robinson singled Bob Johnson across. They added a run in the eighth when Bowers walked, stole second and came home as Jerry Adair singled.

The only run off Barber came in the third on Rene Lachemann's homer.

Lincoln Moose Bombs Filley

Filley — Lincoln Moose won a 14-7 slugfest from Filley here Monday night to raise the Moose record to 14-2.

Pat Gorham, who came in relief of Rich Schwabauer in the second inning, picked up the win. He needed help from Mick Zangari in the fifth, however.

Zangari led the Moose attack as he had a perfect night at the plate (four for four), including two doubles and two RBIs. Jose Ramos, who also drove in three runs, was three for five, with a triple included.

Ex-Browns To Help Stage All-Star Game

Baltimore (AP)—Pitcher Steve Gromek and shortstop Vern Stephens will appear in the All-Star baseball game they missed 20 years ago.

They have accepted an invitation of the Baltimore Orioles — for whom they both played — to take part in staging the All-Star game of 1945. The classic was canceled that year because of war time travel restrictions.

AL All-Stars To Lack Portside Batting Punch

... LOPEZ HAS ONLY 4 LEFTIES

Boston (AP)—The American League invited the National League to go heavy on right-handed pitching in the July 13 All-Star game at Minnesota when it announced Tuesday a 17-man squad with only four left-handed batters and switcher Mickey Mantle.

Carl Yastrzemski of Boston and Jimmy Hall of Minnesota were the only lefties among the reserves named by Manager Al Lopez of Chicago.

Center fielder Vic Davalillo of Cleveland and shortstop Dick McAuliffe of Detroit were the two left-handed hitters in the starting line-up picked by the players, coaches and managers.

The New York Yankees, shut out of the starting line-up for the first time, had three men among the nine extra added by Lopez.

Mantle, still sidelined by a pulled muscle in his right thigh, was picked for the 14th time. Second baseman Bobby Richardson and catcher Elston Howard were the others.

Of the nine named by Lopez, eight finished second in the voting. The other, Mantle, was third in left field behind Willie Horton of Detroit and Yastrzemski, who also is injured.

The addition of center fielder Jimmy Hall, first baseman Harmon Killebrew and shortstop Zoilo Versalles to starting catcher Earl Battey gave the host Minnesota Twins four men in the first All-Star game to be played at Metropolitan Stadium.

Detroit had two starters, Horton in left and McAuliffe, and added a third player in Al Kaline, the center fielder who was picked for the 11th time.

Max Alvis, runner-up at third base to Baltimore's Brooks Robinson, joined starting right fielder Rocky Colavito and center fielder Davalillo as Cleveland's three-man contingent.

Boston already had Felix Mantilla as the second base starter but added a second man in Yastrzemski. Chicago's lone representative remained Moose Skowron, the first base starter.

The National League reserves, picked by Manager Gene Mauch of Philadelphia, will be announced Wednesday, and the pitching staffs for both leagues will be made public Friday.

As Lopez now has 17 men on the list, he must add eight pitchers. Los Angeles, Kansas City and Washington have no representatives so each must get at least one pitcher. Each team must have at least one player on the team under the rules.

The starting line-ups, selected by the players, must play at least the first three innings. The respective managers name the reserves and

New Federal Bldg. Authorized For City

Lincoln is in line for a new federal courthouse and office building as well as a new post office, Rep. Clair Callan revealed Tuesday.

The combined outlay was set at $18.5 million.

Under authorizations made public by the General Services Administration and the commissioner for Public Buildings in Washington, two other changes in the Lincoln picture were made clear.

One is that the government will construct and own both buildings instead of occupying them on a lease-back as originally planned for a privately constructed post office building here.

$1.36 A Square Foot

It was pointed out that government construction of the post office would cost an average of $1.36 a square foot while the cost would rise to $2.75 on a lease-back plan.

The other change is the government's decision to sell the present post office building at 10th and P. It was said the building is structurally sound but obsolete for uses under federal plans. It was built 60 years ago.

These changes are expected to delay construction for several months.

The post office building will be constructed on the previously acquired site between Q and T on No. 8th. The proposed federal courthouse is to be constructed on a site yet to be selected, adjoining Lincoln's central business section, Callan said.

Authorization was received from William Smith, federal commissioner of public projects, and from Lawson B. Knott, administrator of the General Services Administration. The proposals will now move into Congress where Callan estimated that final authorization and funds will be included in the 1967 federal budget.

Little Doubt

"I have little doubt now but both buildings will receive congressional support," Callan said.

Callan said that while no site had yet been accepted for the federal courthouse it is possible that it would be built along a 15th St. site agreeable to Lincoln's long-range planning.

Site for the post office, secured under option recently for $533,968, is a two and a half block area previously owned by the CB&Q railroad and Sullivan Transfer and Storage Co. Building plans, prepared by the architectural firm of Clark and Emerson, Olsson, Burroughs and Thomsen, provide for an internal structure of 108,300 square feet with 12,300 square feet of platform space and 6,676 square feet for paved parking and maneuvering space. Customer and employee parking also will be provided.

Callan described the federal courthouse facility as a $14,890,000 project occupying 470,600 square feet of a total area of 635,700 square feet.

Site design and engineering plus land acquisition has been set at $2,438,000.

School Board Postpones Taking Action On Budget

... FIGURES AREN'T FINAL; TO ACT JULY 27

By GERRY SWITZER
Star Staff Writer

The Lincoln Board of Education Tuesday postponed until the July 27 meeting action on the proposed 1965-66 budget.

Supt. Steven Watkins pointed out that income figures are not final at this time and that district and city property valuations won't be known until the first of August.

In other business, the board received a letter from Charles W. Roach Jr., secretary of the Chamber-Dobson Agency, Inc. pointing out the need for elementary and junior high school planning to take care of expansion in the Midway addition area.

He noted that if the proposed Belmont Junior High School site is moved from 14th and Superior farther east, it would appear that a future site for another junior high might be necessary to serve the Midway Addition.

The board members approved an $11,274 bid from Addressograph-Multi-graph Co. for printing equipment; a $5,400 bid by Fuchs Machinery for industrial arts equipment, and a $4,500 bid for business education equipment from IBM.

The approved bids were either the only ones which met specifications or were the only ones received.

Tool Sheds Hit By Burglars, $196 In Equipment Lost

Police reported that the Pittsburgh-Des Moines Steel Co. had two tool sheds broken into at 84th and South.

Seven boxes of welding rods and seven 200 foot cables leading from the welder were stolen. The total value of the articles stolen is about $196.

The Lincoln Public School system was presented a $413,388.97 check Tuesday as the federal government's reimbursement for vocational education facilities at the new East Lincoln Educational Complex.

The check, presented at Tuesday's board meeting by Cecil Stanley of the State Department of Education, will cover one-half of the cost of the unit.

Stanley said that the state department is very "enthusiastic that Lincoln is going to be one of the area schools in the state" for the vocational training units.

In other action, the board approved change orders deleting items totaling $524,728 from the general, electrical and mechanical contracts for the East Lincoln Educational Complex.

Reinstatement of several of the deleted items at a later date will cost about $250,000. This amount plus the addition of 11 classrooms for a cost of approximately $90,882, will bring the total $5,009,024 contract for the building down to $4,458,178.

Brehm Heads City-County Health Board

Russell Brehm of Lincoln was elected president of the City-County Health Board Tuesday at its annual organizational meeting.

Dr. William F. Nye of Lincoln was chosen vice president, and Mrs. Phillip Buel of Hickman was elected secretary.

The City-County Health Department reported to the board that out of its budget of $221,590 for July 1964 to June 1965, spending totaled $211,747.51. The unspent money is expected to be applied to the July 1965-June 1966 budget.

The largest single expenditure was $171,132 for salaries.

A leave of absence was granted sanitarian Del K. Wood. He will attend the University of Minnesota on a public health grant to work for a master's degree.

The employment of a new sanitarian, Terrence Lyman, was approved. His salary will be $399 monthly.

Longer Hours For Beer Sale In Walton OK'd

Lancaster County Commissioners Tuesday granted Peter and Dorothy Keim's request to extend hours until one a.m. on weekdays to sell off-sale beer at their store in Walton.

The board denied a second request to be open on Sundays.

In other action, the board awarded a $45,918 contract to Dobson Bros. Const. Co. for paving the main street of Firth.

The project will connect the county road on the north side of Firth to the state spur on the south.

—IF CONGRESS OKS FUNDS—

New Federal Bldg. Authorized For City

Lincoln is in line for a new federal courthouse and office building as well as a new post office, Rep. Clair Callan revealed Tuesday.

The combined outlay was set at $18.5 million.

Under authorizations made public by the General Services Administration and the commissioner for Public Buildings in Washington, two other changes in the Lincoln picture were made clear.

One is that the government will construct and own both buildings instead of occupying them on a lease-back as originally planned for a privately constructed post office building here.

$1.36 A Square Foot
It was pointed out that government construction of the post office would cost an average of $1.36 a square foot while the cost would rise to $2.75 on a lease-back plan.

The other change is the government's decision to sell the present post office building at 10th and P. It was said the building is structurally sound but obsolete for uses under federal plans. It was built 60 years ago.

These changes are expected to delay construction for several months.

The post office building will be constructed on the previously acquired site between Q and T on No. 8th. The proposed federal courthouse is to be constructed on a site yet to be selected, adjoining Lincoln's central business section, Callan said.

Authorization was received from William Smith, federal commissioner of public projects, and from Lawson B. Knott, administrator of the General Services Administration. The proposals will now move into Congress where Callan estimated that final authorization and funds will be included in the 1967 federal budget.

Little Doubt
"I have little doubt now but both buildings will receive congressional support," Callan said.

Callan said that while no site had yet been accepted for the federal courthouse it is possible that it would be built along a 15th St. site agreeable to Lincoln's long-range planning.

Site for the post office, secured under option recently for $533,968, is a two and a half block area previously owned by the CB&Q railroad and Sullivan Transfer and Storage Co. Building plans, prepared by the architectural firm of Clark and Erierson, Olsson, Burroughs and Thomsen, provide for an internal structure of 108,300 square feet with 12,300 square feet of platform space and 6,676 square feet for paved parking and maneuvering space. Customer and employee parking also will be provided.

Callan described the federal courthouse facility as a $14,890,000 project occupying 470,600 square feet of a total area of 635,700 square feet.

Site design and engineering plus land acquisition has been set at $2,438,000.

School Board Postpones Taking Action On Budget

... FIGURES AREN'T FINAL; TO ACT JULY 27

By GERRY SWITZER
Star Staff Writer

The Lincoln Board of Education Tuesday postponed until the July 27 meeting action on the proposed 1965-66 budget.

Supt. Steven Watkins pointed out that income figures are not final at this time and that district and city property valuations won't be known until the first of August.

In other business, the board received a letter from Charles W. Roach Jr., secretary of the Chamber-Dobson Agency, Inc. pointing out the need for elementary and junior high school planning to take care of expansion in the Midway addition area.

He noted that if the proposed Belmont Junior High School site is moved from 14th and Superior farther east, it would appear that a future site for another junior high might be necessary to serve the Midway Addition.

The board members approved an $11,274 bid from Addressograph-Multi-graph Co. for printing equipment; a $5,400 bid by Fuchs Machinery for industrial arts equipment, and a $4,500 bid for business education equipment from IBM.

The approved bids were either the only ones which met specifications or were the only ones received.

Check For $413,388 Given Schools As Federal Share For East High

The Lincoln Public School system was presented a $413,388.97 check Tuesday as the federal government's reimbursement for vocational education facilities at the new East Lincoln Educational Complex.

The check, presented at Tuesday's board meeting by Cecil Stanley of the State Department of Education, will cover one-half of the cost of the unit.

Stanley said that the state department is very "enthusiastic that Lincoln is going to be one of the area schools in the state" for the vocational training units.

In other action, the board approved change orders deleting items totaling $524,728 from the general, electrical and mechanical contracts for the East Lincoln Educational Complex.

Reinstatement of several of the deleted items at a later date will cost about $250,000. This amount plus the addition of 11 classrooms for a cost of approximately $90,882, will bring the total $5,009,024 contract for the building down to $4,458,178.

Tool Sheds Hit By Burglars, $196 In Equipment Lost

Police reported that the Pittsburgh-Des Moines Steel Co. had two tool sheds broken into at 84th and South.

Seven boxes of welding rods and seven 200 foot cables leading from the welder were stolen. The total value of the articles stolen is about $196.

Brehm Heads City-County Health Board

Russell Brehm of Lincoln was elected president of the City-County Health Board Tuesday at its annual organizational meeting.

Dr. William F. Nye of Lincoln was chosen vice president, and Mrs. Phillip Buel of Hickman was elected secretary.

The City-County Health Department reported to the board that out of its budget of $221,580 for July 1964 to June 1965, spending totaled $211,747.51. The unspent money is expected to be applied to the July 1965-June 1966 budget.

The largest single expenditure was $171,132 for salaries.

A leave of absence was granted sanitarian Del K. Wood. He will attend the University of Minnesota on a public health grant to work for a master's degree.

The employment of a new sanitarian, Terrence Lyman, was approved. His salary will be $399 monthly.

Longer Hours For Beer Sale In Walton OK'd

Lancaster County Commissioners Tuesday granted Peter and Dorothy Keim's request to extend hours until one a.m. on weekdays to sell off-sale beer at their store in Walton.

The board denied a second request to be open on Sundays.

In other action, the board awarded a $45,918 contract to Dobson Bros. Const. Co. for paving the main street of Firth.

The project will connect the county road on the north side of Firth to the state spur on the south.

Selma Leader Alleged Filcher

Selma, Ala. (UPI)—A grand jury Tuesday swiftly indicted Selma's foremost integration leader on three counts of embezzling civil rights funds.

The Dallas County grand jury indicted the Rev. F. D. Reese, the Negro president of the Dallas County Voters League, only a few hours after his arrest by Public Safety

Congo Governors Are Sworn In By Kasavubu

Leopoldville, The Congo (AP)—Congolese President Joseph Kasavubu swore in four newly-elected provincial governors at his Leopoldville mansion Tuesday.

A fifth governor — Godefroid Munongo, central government interior minister and new governor of East Katanga — failed to appear. No reason was given for his absence.

Taking the oath were Francois Kupa of Ueles Province, Denis Paluku of North Kivu, Ignace Alamazani of Upper Congo and Benoit Wetshindjail of Sankuru Province.

Prime Minister Moise Tshombe, Agriculture Minister Albert Kalonji and a large group of national parliamentarians witnessed the ceremony.

Director Wilson Baker. Baker said a "few more" Negro leaders might be involved. "It looks like thousands of dollars might have been converted from contributions to their own use."

The investigation, Baker emphasized, began at the request of other Negroes.

"The local Negroes affiliated with the movement came to us three weeks ago with a complaint that some of the leaders might be tapping the till. This investigation was at their request."

Reese presided with Dr. Martin Luther King Jr. over most of the civil rights rallies during the bloody voter registration campaign here earlier this year. He served on a negotiating committee that met with city and county officials on voting rights matters.

The grand jury subpoenaed the financial records of the Voters League, and took testimony from Baker, two of his detectives and state investigator Rufus Head before returning the indictment.

Unidentified Flying Object Is Sighted
Santiago, Chile (AP)—Argentine, British and Chilean military and scientific personnel in the Antarctic watched what they called a curious celestial body for about 20 minutes Monday, the Chilean air force reported Tuesday.

Air force headquarters released a copy of a report from the air force commander at the Pedro Aguirre Cerda Base in the Antarctic saying that personnel there saw an object "glowing with a white light cruising in a northeast-southwest direction at a high rate of speed."

The report said the object turned, flew a zigzag course and seemed at times to hang suspended in the air.

Personnel at the British station reported sighting an unidentified object but described it as yellow at times and green at others, the report said.

The Chilean air force quoted the British observers as saying the object shone with the intensity of a star of the first magnitude.

The Argentines, according to the Chilean report, sighted an object which alternately glowed white, yellow, green and orange which left a large vapor trail as it moved across the sky at high speed.

It was warm the other evening. The sky was all that smoky blue of daylight saving nights.

A couple of boys went up the hill, loaded with jungle-green tent and sleeping bags. They were going to camp all night on the hills — obeying that primitive impulse that overwhelms small boys on such evenings.

I imagine they had all the survival kits. Waterproof matches. (To waterproof your matches, you dip them in melted paraffin. As any kind, courteous thrifty, brave, clean and reverent old Boy Scout can tell you.)

I notice information like this is passed out to girls, too, these days.

How to waterproof matches. How to find your way when lost in the woods. How to use a watch as an emergency compass.

It is put out in "The Outdoor Book," a guide for the Camp Fire Girls, Inc.

Such emergency procedures used to be for men (or boys) only. And I don't know what in the world the world's coming to when we put out vital manly information to young cupcakes.

If I were putting out a girl's guide, I would zero in how to get a diamond-studded gold Audemars Piguet watch. A girl with such a watch would not have to turn it into a compass to find her way home.

She could just tell the chauffeur the address. Let him drive her there.

The young men going off to camp were doing the manly thing. Now that I think back, I did not paraffin my matches.

I carried them in a nickel-eled, waterproof case. I carried them at all times. Because you never knew when you were going to fall in an icy river. You got ashore and unscrewed the top. Dry matches! Saved!

I carried them to school and carelessly displayed them. Particularly to a little chick named Virginia — a sugar-and-spice type-hoping to impress her with my manly foresight.

She only said: "I'll bet your mother doesn't know you carry matches."

It was a manly life. But man, it was demoralizing at times.

It was well-known to all of us that young chicks could not find their way out of a barn with the door wide open. The idea of telling them how to waterproof matches or turn a watch into a compass would have convulsed us with laughter.

We all carried dollar Ingersolls. And on the way home, we often took a shadow sight on the sun and determined our compass course.

"That sure is north all right," we said.

We also tested the wind with a wet finger.

We made sure our waterproof match container was secure in our pockets.

It gave me a sense of security that I have never been able to duplicate since.

Young ladies of those days did not trespass on such manly pursuits.

They skipped rope home — didn't know whether they were going north, south, east or west. Or how the wind blew.

(We secretly hoped they would. But nobody was admitting it.)

We said: "Look out old Virginia going home! Probably doesn't know which way she's going!"

The only way we got any attention out of Virginia was by throwing loving rocks at her.

Market's Momentum Gives Out

New York (U) — The stock market's momentum from last week's sharp advance gave out Tuesday and prices fell.

The decline was small, but despite an attempt at a further rally at the opening, the string of four advancing sessions was ended.

Trading was the quietest in two weeks. Brokers felt the market was entitled to a pause after the vigorous run that capped a six-week slide.

But three factors, although active traders lost ground despite a report that new car sales in June may have been the highest for any month in history, caused the market to retreat.

Chances of more rain, raised to a point of more.

The Dow Jones average of 30 industrial stocks closed at 1,000.14, down 1.58 from 1,001.72.

The Associated Press 60-stock index, which had risen to 1,000.14, fell 1.58 to 998.56.

Of 1,352 issues traded, 546 advanced and 806 declined. There were 9 new highs and 8 new lows.

Volume dropped to 3.41 million shares from 4.25 million the previous day.

Steel production declined a bit last week and the major steel firms, U.S. Steel, Bethlehem, Republic and Jones & Laughlin, reported lower output.

IBM shipped more than 3 points and Xerox lost nearly 2.

General Motors declined a point in a general lower market.

Texas lost a point and Jersey Standard was down 1/2 point.

Stocks advanced on the American Stock Exchange. Corporate bonds advanced and treasuries declined.

Debate Starts On Medicare

... SENATE PASSAGE URGED

Washington (AP) — Sen. Clinton P. Anderson, D-N.M., Tuesday urged passage of the Social Security-Health Care Bill as "a tremendous stride forward toward making economic security in old age a reality for the great majority of Americans."

Sen. Russell B. Long, D-La., declared the measure "will be the largest and most significant piece of social legislation to pass the Congress in the history of our country."

"It will do more immediate good for more people who need the attention of their government than any that the Congress has ever enacted," he said.

Program For All Americans The two senators spoke at the Senate opened debate on the far-reaching legislation raising social security benefits and setting up broad health programs for all Americans 65 and over.

The bill's sponsors are pushing for passage by Friday.

Anderson, who has worked for years to win adoption of a social security-financed health care plan, and Long both noted that the Senate was acting on the original social security bill exactly 30 years ago.

"As one who had the privilege of knowing Franklin Delano Roosevelt and understanding in some measure his hopes, dreams and aspirations for the social security program, I think I can say this bill is not only destined to become one of the most important contributions to security in old age but also a major element in completing the structure he had in mind when the social security law was enacted 30 years ago," Anderson told his colleagues.

"Mighty Citadel" Long said the social security system "has grown, from somewhat humble beginnings, to be a mighty citadel of America's social and economic well-being."

"The original report (of the Senate Finance Committee) in 1935 contemplated that, by 1960, some $3.5 billion would be paid out in benefits.

"Last year, social security benefit disbursements totaled over $16 billion. Present estimates indicate that, by 1967 under this legislation, the total social insurance disbursements will approach $25 billion."

"Even allowing for differences in the value of the dollar, the program is about four times greater than conceived."

Adopted Amendments Before adjourning for the day, the Senate formally adopted all of the 75 Finance Committee amendments to the House-passed bill except one.

The exception is a committee proposal to include tip income under social security but on a self-employment basis so that only the worker would pay tax.

Under the House bill, such income would be included on a regular basis so that both the employee and employer would be taxed on it.

PRESIDENT AMUSED

Mrs. Frank P. Bender, wife of the wing commander of Bergstrom AFB near Austin, Tex., offers an amusing word to President Johnson before he boarded his plane to return to Washington, D.C., Tuesday. The President ended his July 4 holiday at his LBJ ranch to return to the Capitol for a series of meetings with Australian Prime Minister Sir Robert Menzies.

Red China Corrupting Africa

Blantyre, Malawi (AP) — Prime Minister Hastings Banda said Tuesday Red China is spending millions of dollars to corrupt African leaders and the money could be better spent feeding the Chinese people.

Banda's statement was made at a news conference marking the first anniversary of Malawi's independence.

Banda even accused Red China of a hand in the overthrow last month of President Ahmed Ben Bella of Algeria, although it is generally considered the revolution was an internal affair.

Interference Recalling the London Commonwealth prime minister's conference, Banda said many African leaders there were saying "how can China claim it doesn't interfere when she does this sort of thing."

"The coup in Algeria may have been a blessing in disguise, if this is the reaction it brings," he added.

Banda may have been referring to the fact that Red China, apparently seeking to maintain the influence it had during the Ben Bella regime, cabled "total and unconditional support to the Algerian revolution" of Col. Houari Boumedienne, who ousted the president.

Banda has been feuding with Red China. He turned down a loan offered by Peking, and last September dismissed several members of his cabinet, charging they had accepted Chinese bribes.

Rebellion Claimed At the news conference, the prime minister charged that one ousted official, former Finance Minister Kanyama Chiume, was in neighboring Tanzania trying to organize a rebellion against him.

"But if Chiume thinks he can come here with an army from Tanzania, he's a fool," Banda said. "Chiume and his allies will fail."

In addition to Malawi, Red China has antagonized a number of other African nations. On a recent visit to Tanzania, Premier Chou En-lai of Red China said that an "exceedingly favorable situation for revolution prevails in Africa."

President Jomo Kenyatta of Kenya rejected the call for revolution and let it be known he considered Chou's speech offensive. Other African nations, particularly some of the former French colonies, have grown suspicious of Peking.

In Algeria itself, Chinese Communist advisers left the country hurriedly when Ben Bella was overthrown. Boumedienne has referred contemptuously to Chinese, French and other Communist advisers.

Santo Domingo, Dominican Republic (AP) — A Nicaraguan sentry exchanged shots during the night with rebel soldiers, a spokesman for the inter-American peace force said Tuesday.

It was the first shooting incident involving the Nicaraguan contingent of 185 men, the spokesman said.

The Nicaraguans occupy a four-block sector near the rebel's downtown stronghold.

The shooting followed three powerful explosions in the rebel sector. A U.S. military spokesman said the cause of the explosions was not determined.

Capt. Miguel Blessing, 35, commander of the Nicaraguan contingent, said the rebels fired several rounds into his lines and a sentry returned the fire.

Los Angeles (AP) — Charges were filed Tuesday against five men accused of raping a police lieutenant's daughter and, in another action, against the officer himself.

Lt. Thomas E. O'Neal was charged in a police department administrative action with having shot and wounded Carl E. Norman "without just and reasonable cause."

Norman was one of 16 men arrested in a roundup of a gang of motorcycle and car club members after the rape June 29 of 19-year-old Shirley Diane O'Neal.

Recovering From Wounds But, ironically, Norman is not now considered a suspect in the attack on O'Neal's daughter. He is recovering from three bullet wounds in the back.

Fellow officers said O'Neal, 41, who was helping in the investigation of the case, suddenly began screaming and shooting at suspects being moved down a hallway at a police station in the San Fernando Valley Friday.

Norman, 21, who was handcuffed, was critically wounded. He is being held on suspicion of possession of marijuana.

Five Involved Police said Miss O'Neal earlier identified four men. She said only five men were involved in the attack. All five were formally charged with three counts each of forcible rape.

Her father is free on $3,300 bail. He was charged with assault with intent to commit murder, and faces arraignment Thursday.

The police department charges filed Tuesday are concerned only with his fit-

PANAMA GIRL PULLED FROM LAKE, REVIVED

Hickman — Lucille Clifton, of Panama, 8, was reported in satisfactory condition at Bryan Memorial Hospital Tuesday evening after nearly drowning.

Conservation Officer Dale Bruha said that an unidentified man pulled Lucille Clifton, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Leo Clifton, from the Wagon Train Lake about three miles east of Hickman.

The girl was given mouth to mouth resuscitation by M. Sgt. Henry Veselka of the 98th Organization Maintenance Squadron at Lincoln Air Force Base and by two retired registered nurses from Bennet.

Bowen Urges Equalization Board To Not Pare Nance Co. Valuations

State Sen. Kenneth L. Bowen of Red Cloud Tuesday urged the State Board of Equalization not to lower the new tax valuation of Nance County in an effort to equalize levels between it and the other 92 counties. Rather, he said, the board should increase valuation levels in other counties to correlate with Nance.

Nance County is the first Nebraska county to complete a mandatory real estate reappraisal ordered by the 1963 legislature. Sen. Bowen, speaker of the Unicameral, was chief sponsor of that 1963 legislation.

As a result of the reappraisal, Nance County's tangible property valuation for tax purposes has climbed from $35,454,877 last year to $50,528,443 this year, a gain of nearly 43 per cent.

The State Board of Equalization is confronted with the question of whether to adjust other county valuations upward to correspond with Nance's valuation, or adjust the Nance figure downward.

Tampering with the Nance County valuation would reflect upon the entire statewide reappraisal program, Sen. Bowen said.

Currently, 35 counties are in some stage of reappraisal programs.

Tourist Visits Up At Capitol

Nebraska's domed state capitol, home of the only one-house legislature in the nation, is a more popular tourist attraction now than ever before.

As of Tuesday, 93,997 persons from the 50 states and 60 foreign countries had toured the unique building since January, as compared to an 83,639 total for the same period a year ago, according to Building Superintendent Robert Newell.

The number of tourists visiting the capitol has increased steadily since 1961 when the structure was opened for tourists on weekends and holidays as well as during the week. In four years, the number of sightseers at the statehouse has jumped from about 60,400 in 1961 to 179,197 last year.

Boy Killed When Bike Chain Breaks

Hartford, Ky. (AP) — Nine-year-old Paul Edward Geary went for a bicycle ride Tuesday near his home at McHenry.

The chain apparently broke and the youngster was unable to stop his bike.

He was struck and killed by a truck from a funeral home.

The boy's father, Wade Geary, saw the accident and rushed his son to a hospital where the youngster was pronounced dead.

The truck was en route to a cemetery where an employee planned to prepare a grave for the boy's grandfather, R. F. Geary.

We are deeply considerate of the family's wishes, needs, financial circumstances.
